AXIS LURES FRANCE TO WAR ON BRITAIN

ENTIRE FRENCH COAST AFLAME

LONDON, Oct. 22—The entire French channel coast is in flames and German-held "invasion ports" have been wrecked by British aerial and naval blows, it was claimed in London today as RAF bombers and British long-range guns again hammered the German war machine.

At 9 a. m. (3 a. m. EST) British guns on the Kent coast began firing across the Straits of Dover, but a mist limited visibility and prevented observation of the targets.

Soon the barrage developed into a trans-channel duel when German Big Berthas on the opposite coast opened up. The first shells crashed into the Dover area, damaging houses and causing minor casualties.

British guns immediately replied, and the German battery suddenly ceased.

Later in the morning brilliant sunshine dispersed the mist and extended the visibility. The sea was calm and a light wind blew from the northeast.

British planes also dropped tons of high explosives and at least 1000 incendiary bombs on harbors and shipbuilding yards where German warships were under construction, the air ministry said today.

VAST FIRES SET

Numerous fires were started in the shipyard and the surrounding docks, the ministry continued.

"A chain of fires became engulfed in one great, flaming mass," it added.

In one attack on the French coast bombs were dropped on a convoy off Dunkirk. So heavy were the explosions, the ministry said, that some of the vessels were almost lifted out of the water.

London meanwhile passed through its quietest day since the aerial blitz started last Sept. 5. Two raid alarms were sounded, but up to 5 p. m. not a bomb was dropped on the London area.

An attempt by a squadron of German planes to cross the coast near Dungeness was frustrated by British fighters, the air ministry reported.

The Nazi planes, unable to penetrate to London, unloaded their bombs on a southeast coast town.

Several persons were killed and injured and some houses were demolished in some of these single attacks.

The raid on Hamburg started about 8 p. m., the ministry said, and lasted for well over an hour. The warships were being built in the Blohm and Voss shipbuilding yards, it declared.

RUHR AREA RAIDED

A British aerial attack on the Ruhr industrial area was likewise opened early in the evening, the air ministry said, with a "lightning attack on an oil refinery at Reishold, near Dusseldorf."

For ten minutes high explosives and incendiary bombs rained down on the plant. British pilots moving high above their target said they counted at least 14 separate fires.

"Many explosions and several big fires were started in the railway yards at Dusseldorf-Derendorf," the ministry continued. "Bombs were also dropped on the

AXIS TO SOFTEN ITS TERMS IF FRANCE FIGHTS BRITAIN

BERLIN, Oct. 22 (AP)—The possibility that France may re-enter the war on the side of the Axis powers was foreseen here today amid indications that Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop either is on his way or is about to go to the southwest, presumably to Vichy.

Red-Turk Pact Aiding Axis Aims Reported

BUDAPEST, Oct. 22 (INS)—Soviet Russia and Turkey today were reported preparing a non-aggression agreement which was believed to be Moscow's contribution to efforts of the Axis powers to keep Turkey out of the Balkans.

The pact will carry a gentleman's agreement of mutual assistance, it was reported, but only on condition that Turkey refrain from any Balkan conflict.

Thus, informed quarters in Budapest believed, Russia will have succeeded in neutralizing Turkey in the event that the Axis powers march into Greece.

Nevertheless, British Balkan envoys meeting in Istanbul were reported to have been reassured today that a military alliance between Turkey and Greece had been concluded.

This is directly in line with ad-

Italians Claim Six British Ships Sunk, Cruiser Crippled

ROME, Oct. 22 (AP)—An 8000-ton British cruiser of the Sydney type was damaged badly by repeated hits, and six merchant ships were sunk in a midnight-to-dawn naval battle in the southern Red Sea yesterday, the Italian high command reported today. One Italian torpedo boat was damaged in the action, it was acknowledged.

The British cruiser was caught in the fire of coast defense batteries on nearby islands, the Italians said, and was forced to retreat, later halting "in serious difficulties while other English warships hastened to her aid."

Jane's fighting ships lists three Australian cruisers of the Sydney class, all of 6850 tons, including the Sydney, which was credited with sinking the Italian cruiser Bartolomeo Colleoni last July with the aid of a light British destroyer.—Editor's note.

The communique did not identify the islands, but neutral sources concluded they were a group lying off Assab, on the Eritrean coast near the strait of Bab el Mandeb, through which convoys pass to and from the Gulf of Aden.

Italian torpedo boats made three separate attacks on the convoy of merchant ships, which was "strongly escorted by cruisers and destroyers," the communique said.

Italian bombers also struck at the British naval base at Alexandria and other objectives in Egypt, reporting "positive results" despite lively anti-aircraft fire and attacked port works at Aden and East African objectives, the communique said.

State Draft Boards Rush to Number All

Local draft boards throughout the State have shown a tremendous spurt of activity in the past 24 hours and every man registered will have his serial number long before the national drawing at Washington next Tuesday, it was announced today.

PASTOR SIGNS—Indicted by a federal grand jury after he had refused to register for selective service, Rev. Harry H. Kreuner, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Boston, admits he "made a mistake" . . . and is allowed by his local draft board to register. Here he signs his card . . . as Chairman Roland Baker looks on.

"There will be no reason for any registrant being ignorant of his own number before the drawing," said Maj. David B. Weden, public relations officer of the State Selective Service boards.

"Each local board will have posted its list of serial numbers by Tuesday morning at the very latest, while the hour at which the national drawing starts is noon.

MANY NUMBERS LISTED

"Registrants should keep in touch at all times with their local draft board officials. Most of them will thus learn their serial numbers within a few days. Many serial numbers have already been assigned and are available to registrants at their local headquarters."

In order to speed up procedure by the local boards, scores of which had been in a state of confusion yesterday, the state headquarters has assigned seven civilian inspectors to cover the 173 draft districts. Each inspector has been given an area embracing a certain number of districts, Maj. Weden said, and these are at work now solving any difficulties local board officials may have encountered.

DRAWING FOR 12 HOURS

The historic drawing for order numbers in the first peacetime conscription program in the nation's history, to be held in Washington, will probably last a dozen hours, it was estimated today.

By the time it is completed, each of the 16,694,000 men in the country—494,582 in Massachusetts—will know in what order he will be called for a year's military service if he qualifies as a possible draftee. Officials wanted to stress today that high or low serial numbers, as such, make no difference. It is the order in which these serial numbers are drawn that determines the order of call.

The order of call is further limited by a man's occupation, dependents, physical condition and other factors.

KUSH ON TO VOLUNTEER

State headquarters of the draft board in Boston reported today surprising large numbers of young men are signifying their intention where it all started for about three or four hours and had several beers for which the men paid.

She also admitted that she had

Her Hidden $1875 Revealed by Death

Fellow lodgers thought her to be destitute, but after Mrs. Irene Gibson, 65, had died at City Hospital, $1875 was found in the pocket of an old black dress hanging in a closet of her room in Milford st., South End.

Neighbors did not know either that Mrs. Gibson had a daughter, but before she died she gasped out that she had a daughter, Julia Arnold, who once lived in Roxbury st., Roxbury.

Today police were hunting for the daughter, but nowhere in Roxbury at, could they find a Julia Arnold.

Believed to have been a native of Sweden, Mrs. Gibson was taken from her rooming house to the hospital on Oct. 16 after other lodgers had discovered her ill in her room and without medical care.

Jail Bars End Boy's Laugh

Edward Mylonis, a 17-year-old Watertown High School student, got a little schooling today in the authority of the courts, and by the time his father arrived and paid the youth's $5 contempt fine he wasn't laughing any more.

Young Edward had failed to appear as a witness today in a criminal case in East Cambridge court. Judge Arthur P. Stone issued a capias.

Police Inspector James Stone of Watertown found the youth in a high school class and brought him back to court, the boy in apparent high humor over the whole thing.

When Judge Stone assessed a fine of $5 on a charge of contempt, Mylonis laughed and said:

"You'll never get it out of me." He was taken across the street to jail to begin serving out the fine at the rate of 50 cents a day, but a few hours later Watertown police located the father, who arrived and paid the fine.

Hub Conscience Payer Still Pay-

The mysterious contributors to city of Boston's conscience fund popped up again today when City Treasurer J. Joseph McCarthy received an envelope containing $5 and a scrawled note saying:

"More to come." McCarthy got the original $5 and note in the series last August. That time, the note said "More to come" too. McCarthy is a careful but puzzled.

Diary Read in Trial Turns Her Face Red

What might well have been her most embarrassing moment came in central municipal court today for 22-year-old Mary F. Driscoll when counsel for one of three men she had accused of attempting to attack her started reading her diary.

The book was replete with references to "My Big Moment," to other men like "Marty," and "Melvin," to having drinks with them, and to other things that Mary didn't want to have aired in a public court.

"My husband gave that to you, didn't he?" she demanded of Atty. Joseph McDonough, who was reading from the little book. "I'll tell you later," McDonough parried, and he kept right on reading.

Mary, who is a Mrs., but not yet divorced, is the same young lady who caused all the confusion when the first hearing of her charges developed into a hide-and-seek game.

After today's session of court, however, the highlight of which was the diary, Judge F. Delano Putnam decided the grand jury should study the cases of Michael Della Riva, 19; Amelio Della Riva, 24, and Frank Terillo, 48, all of the North End.

Mrs. Driscoll said they had jumped in a taxicab after her when she had left a West End cafe, had forced her to go to T wharf and were planning no good when the car arrived there.

On the stand, Mary answered cross-examination by McDonough that she had been in the cafe

U. S. Judge Raps Woman's Arrest

Declaring "this woman should not be here," Judge Francis J. W. Ford refused to impose sentence on Mrs. Mary Bouy, 23, of Sharon st., Springfield, in Federal court today although she had pleaded guilty to possession of an unregistered still at her home.

"Having this woman here as a defendant is not my idea of chivalry," said Judge Ford. "I do not like to see wives get records in courts or punishments for the wrongs of husbands. It's just a case of the investigators hiding up one more case by having this woman here."

He placed Mrs. Bouy on probation.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Robert W. Meserve declared the government had no cause against the woman's husband, who was in the house when the still was found there.

Another Blaze At City Hall

City Hall had its monthly fire scare today, and Patrolman Mike O'Brien was somewhat disturbed about it because he was out to lunch.

When Patrolman David Fitzgibbons, assigned to the mayor's office, saw a blaze going on top of an elevator which had stopped at the second floor, he seized a fire extinguisher, leaned over the third floor railing and put out the fire.

It had apparently been started when someone carelessly tossed a lighted cigarette butt into the elevator shaft. It alighted atop the car, igniting grease and oily waste.

Usually Patrolman O'Brien, assigned to the Soldiers' Relief Department, finds it his lot to be nearest some small City Hall wastebasket or other blaze, and to douse it.

danced with them and that one tried to kiss her, but in the cab she was coerced, she maintained, and continually screamed for help. "You know a man named Bucky?" McDonough asked.

"Yes," was the reply. "On Sept. 18 were you with Bucky in New York?" "I was in New York."

"Did you go with Bucky?" Indignantly Mary turned to the court and inquired:

"Do I have to answer that?" Judge Putnam said she did. She answered affirmatively in a small voice.

McDonough did not disclose whether the "Bucky" reference came out of the diary, but at this point produced the book and informed the court he would like to read from it.

MARTY OF PORTLAND

With Mary watching intently, he began quoting:

"American Legion Convention, Saturday, with Marty from Portland, Me. If I make up my mind to go slumming with him I can meet him at Copley sq. He left me a dollar to get myself a few drinks. He wanted to leave me more, but I refused."

Mary frowned. McDonough went on with another extract.

"Met Melvin. Left me 28 cents. Bought me two Cuba libres." Mary squirmed. McDonough started on No. 3.

"I guess my Big Moment is worried about me—"

MISSED BIG MOMENT

It was at this point that Mary broke in.

"My husband gave that to you, didn't he?"

McDonough answered and went on:

"Melvin met me at the bar, where we had some Cuba libres, but I missed not being with my Big Moment."

In his subsequent arguments to the bench, McDonough made frequent reference to these entries, but the court decided to hold the defendants in $5000 each for grand jury action.

The taxicab driver in the case, Charles Knauer of the West End, was continually in hot water during the hearing, not being able to remember certain statements police claimed he had made.

"All I want from you is the truth," the court broke in at one point. "I must get it and you had better start telling it right now."

Knauer, however, insisted he could not identify the men or the girl complainant and when pushed closely, explained:

"I didn't pay much attention to them. All I heard on the way down (to T wharf) was a yelp and that's not unusual when a man and a girl are in the back of a cab."

Letter Shows Ickes Put $125,000 Value on Stamps

Special to The Boston Evening American.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22—Those stamps for which Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes paid the Postoffice Department $110 and which he insisted only a few months ago were still worth their face value, were disclosed today to have been valued by him at $125,000.

The stamps are ten sheets of imperforate national parks commemorative postage stamps, which Ickes had specially gummed for himself.

The value Ickes actually puts on them is revealed in a letter, published today in the Pittsburgh Post-Dispatch, written Jan. 16, 1923, by Gerard T. Beekman, a philatelist employed by the Interior Department and generally known as an agent for Ickes in stamp matters. The letter, written to a stamp dealer, whose name is withheld, said:

"The secretary has decided that at the present time he will make a trade on one set of blocks only—and it will be either a set of inside blocks (with the one and three margins) or a set of arrow blocks—which would, of course, all be margin blocks.

"He has definitely set the trade value of $2500 on the inside blocks and $3350 on the arrow blocks. He intimated that at a later date he would be interested in further trading. He said, 'I am not disillusioned as to the value of these stamps. I doubt if he would trade the center line blocks at any price and apparently has given the matter considerable thought since I last talked with him.

"His want list is very lengthy and once he gets started filling it—I rather think he will go after it by additional training."

Posse Uses Hound in Vain Search for Lost Boy, 4

SHEPPTON, Pa., Oct. 22 (AP)—A bloodhound was put on the leaf-hidden trail of a four-year-old Rudy Kunchick, Jr., today as residents of this eastern Pennsylvania hamlet organized a new search for the black-haired boy, missing since early yesterday.

While Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Kunchick bewailed the possible fate of their only child, volunteers beat through thick timber and underbrush most of the night in sub-freezing weather.

State Police Sgt. Edward Sichel said movements of the dog indicated the boy had wandered aimlessly in the woods through the heavy undergrowth of leaves.

Searchers were handicapped in that the youngster was dressed in a light tan corduroy suit and wore a brown helmet—blending with the autumn brown.

Earlier belief that he may have fallen into one of the scores of coal holes in the region was discounted when it was pointed out they are more than three miles from the home. One pond near his home was dragged.

TRIAL FOR CAROL HINTED IN SPAIN

MADRID, Oct. 22 (AP)—The newspaper Arriba, organ of the Falange, Spain's Fascist-like state party, hinted today that former King Carol's long-time friend, Mme. Magda Lupescu, and Ernst Urdareanu, former Rumanian minister of state without portfolio, might be compelled to return to Bucharest and face trial.

Dispatches from Lieben indicated that the former king himself might be asked to go back for investigation.

At Seville, where Carol had expected to go hunting on an Andalusian estate today, the exiled monarch cancelled plans for the outing at the last moment.

He remained at his hotel with Mme. Lupescu and Urdareanu. His hunting trip with the Duke of Medinaceli and other aristocrats was first set for Saturday, then Sunday and then postponed to today.

An editorial in Arriba accused Carol's two companions in exile at Seville with complicity in the assassination of a former chief of the Rumanian Iron Guard and said Urdareanu was responsible for a "long series of political and financial immoralities."

"Perhaps one day," the editorial said, "Rumanians—who are now fighting valiantly for their destiny—will see how over the same roads of their flight will return under arrest the woman and favorite who stained their hands with the blood of the chief of the Iron Guard."

Reports from Bucharest have quoted Rumanian officials as saying the government has decided to ask Spain and Portugal for the extradition of Mme. Lupescu and Urdareanu.

Charles Street Traffic Studied

Within a few days, the police traffic division will make a new order in an attempt to alleviate traffic conditions, this time the rush-hour movements of traffic along Charles st. at the foot of Beacon Hill.

Between the hours of 8 and 10 a. m. and 4 and 6 p. m., it was learned today, all halting of vehicles will be forbidden in Charles st. between Beacon and Cambridge sts.

Whether it will succeed in speeding up traffic, however, was deemed doubtful by some of the experienced traffic men, who pointed out that the Cambridge st. traffic circle is now one of the worst bottlenecks in the city, with a speedier loading of traffic into the circle merely making matters worse.

Bandit Suspect Held In Bail of $30,000

Charles Florenzo, 26 and married, of Liberty st., Everett, pleaded not guilty to armed robbery of $4500 at the Suburban Gas & Electric Co. office in Revere a week ago, and was held by Judge Paul J. McDonold in Chelsea in $15,000 double surety until Oct. 31. About $2000 of the loot is missing, although $2500 in checks and money orders was recovered.

Mercury's Dive Sets Hub Record For October 22

Boston's temperature hit low for the season today when the mercury dropped to 29 degrees at 3 and 4 a. m., breaking also the record for the coldest Oct. 22, which had held since 1883, at 32 degrees.

A few hours later, however, the mercury was on a slow climb, with indications of continued rise tonight and with a probability that tomorrow may be somewhat warmer.

Meanwhile, if you care for that sort of thing, you might have had some fine shivering today atop Mt. Washington, where the mercury dropped to one notch above zero at the observatory.

Century-Old London Law Hall Hit by Bomb

LONDON, Oct. 22 (AP)—Middle Temple Hall, in one of London's centuries-old Inns of Court, was damaged in a recent raid in which a heavy bomb ripped through a wall and smashed wood carving on the interior, it was disclosed today.

Office suites in the hall also were damaged. Middle Temple Hall is one of the four great London Inns of Court: Lincoln's Inn, Inner Temple, Middle Temple and Gray's Inn, which are voluntary legal societies originating in the 13th century.

The shades of the James Boys—Jessee and Frank—must have hovered over Brighton court today when a horse thief was sentenced to one month in the House of Correction.

As late as yesterday horse thieves had been believed to be extinct in this vicinity, but this morning, Charles Young, 29, of Royal st., Allston, actually stood in the dock, charged with larceny of one horse (value $60), one wagon ($20), one load of junk ($10).

According to police Barney Rodman, a junk dealer, of Ellington st., Dorchester, had left horse, wagon and junk at Franklin and Lincoln sts., Allston, yesterday, while he bargained for a bit of tinware.

When Rodman returned, the horse, wagon and junk had vanished into thin air.

For two hours he searched the vicinity and was chatting with Special Officers Roy Reimer and Harry Mawhinney when a report arrived that horse, wagon and junk were sleepily proceeding down Western ave.

The posse, consisting of Rodman and the two officers, entered a cruising car and caught up with the evidence at Central sq., Cambridge.

Police charge that Young was not only driving the outfit, but that he had so far engaged in the junk business as to buy one slightly damaged refrigerator en route. Judge Thomas H. Connolly thought a month in the House of Correction would about fit the crime.

Driver Is Unhurt As Train wrecks Car

SHIRLEY, Oct. 22.—An automobile, driven by Edward Westmark of Auburn, collided with a Fitchburg-to-Boston train here today, burst into flames and was destroyed. Westmark escaped with his life.

He was thrown clear of his car by the force of the impact before it caught fire. The train was delayed 20 minutes.

Needless Operations Scored by Surgeon

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—A charge that hundreds of unnecessary surgical operations are performed daily in this country was made to the American College of Surgeons Hospital Standardization Conference today by Dr. Harold L. Foss, surgeon-in-chief of the Geisinger Memorial Hospital, Danville, Pa.

He said that the public is becoming aware of the condition and that state or Federal governments may have to step in. The trouble, he said, applies mostly to small, unregulated hospitals. He charged that for every well-trained surgeon there are probably 20 who do the incompetent work.

"In many hospitals," he said in a prepared address, "countless major operations are being attempted by men thoroughly unequipped by training and experience to assume the responsibility of handling any but the simplest surgical problems. We all know this but have been loath to talk about it."

"The situation is a delicate one in many of its phases and the problem is most difficult, yet so grave and so seriously important is it that it is coming with increasing force to the attention of the public."

"If it is not, in due course, solved by those in whose hands the matter should chiefly rest, the surgeons themselves, then it may become the problem of the public or possibly of the state or Federal governments."

"BOSTON AFTER DARK," by George Holland, is a regular feature of the Boston Evening American.

12 WILLKIE CHARGES EFFORT TO STEAL CHICAGO VOTE

12 EVENING AMERICAN, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1940

ABOARD WILLKIE TRAIN EN ROUTE TO CHICAGO, Oct. 22 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie brought his Presidential campaign into the Chicago area today just after he accused President Roosevelt of letting that city's Democratic organization and two others "try to steal the election or him without even a rebuke."

The Republican presidential nominee told an audience in the Milwaukee Auditorium that his opposition uses "lofty talk and low performance," and added: "When the third term candidate begins his belated and forced discussion of the issues of the campaign I want to put to him a question: You say that you seek no dictatorial powers because you submit yourself to a free election.

"Do you call it a free election when you sit in conference with the Boss Hagues, the Boss Flynns and the Kelly-Nashes? Do you call it a free election when the chairman of your committee—and he could not do it without your knowledge—sends out lists of government employees and seeks to collect campaign contributions from them? Do you count it a free election when you begin to put pressure upon relief receivers and people upon WPA employment?"

CHALLENGES LIBERALISM

Asserting that "no such mockery was ever attempted in the history of this country," Willkie continued:

"Here is a candidate for President who has proclaimed himself as a liberal, as a reform candidate, but who allows three of the most corrupt political machines to try to steal the election for him without even a rebuke to them."

Willkie expressed the hope that he would be supported by "free and independent American citizens, uninfluenced by government, unswayed by flattery, uncontrolled in their voting ability."

OPPOSITION DESPERATE

Speaking at Rockford from his train, Willkie said:

"The opposition is beginning to get desperate and is resorting to certain tactics of desperation in the last moments of the campaign. Try no attention to them and do not adopt their methods."

"Whatever attempts they may make to stop public discussion . . . I do not want anyone associated with me to adopt similar tactics. I do not want to see those people on relief subjected to pressure."

I do not want to see government employees forced to contribute as Flynn is attempting to make them contribute to the Democratic campaign. "I appreciate that the opposition has a sense that here is a Government which they bought with the people's money and they see it going away from them."

Of his own campaign he said: "There is a prairie fire on. On Nov. 5 the people of America are again going to assert themselves."

The crowd which jammed around his train was estimated by Chief Deputy Sheriff Ernest I. Smith of Winnebago County at 40,000 to 50,000.

ALL POLLS EXCEPT ONE GIVE WILLKIE LEAD

All but one of the important test polls being taken throughout the country on the presidential race showed today that Wendell L. Willkie is out in front.

Furthermore, betting odds favoring President Roosevelt's re-election, have fallen sharply in the past two weeks, according to latest reports.

Most recent results of the poll being conducted in New York state by the New York Daily News, point toward Willkie's winning that state.

Baldwin & Co., New York city

bookage firm, also announced that it could find no takers against a wager of $50,000, even money, on a Willkie victory in Pennsylvania.

A consensus of all the polls, national and local, indicate that Willkie could be considered having a slight edge over Roosevelt, but make it certain that this is still every bit of a close race.

The fate of the Literary Digest, which went into oblivion after its erroneous prediction on the 1936 contest is still a bogey to many sentiment-samplers, but not a deterrent.

Only poll of the current crop to show Roosevelt ahead today is Dr. Gallup's American Institute of Public Opinion.

Even with its survey directors discounting a possible 4 per cent error in its totals, the Gallup poll, as of Oct. 14, gave Roosevelt 285 electoral votes, 19 more than he needs to win.

GALLUP'S FIGURES

The Gallup poll rates two states, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, as "safe" for Roosevelt, but local polls in both would show them to be at least "doubtful."

And Pennsylvania and New Jersey have a combined electoral vote of 52, enough to overthrow the Gallup predictions.

The Dunn Survey and Hurja's Pathfinder polls, both of national character, give Willkie appreciable margins today.

The Dunn Survey claims its figures show that Willkie would have 234 electoral votes, while Hurja, predicting the Willkie victory, gives the Republican candidate a margin in 25 possible 28 states.

HURJA SPEKS WILLKIE WIN

Hurja also sees Willkie with a popular plurality of between 1,500,000 and 3,000,000. The Republican National Committee respects the Hurja poll because of the success this prognosticator enjoyed while employed by the Democrats in 1932 and 1936.

The Chicago Tribune poll, similar to the Daily News test, gives Illinois to Willkie, while American Opinion Executive, Inc., says that about 10 per cent of the voters are still undecided.

Facts of the matter are, however, that odds favoring Roosevelt's re-election have plunged from quotation of 13 to 5 two weeks ago to 7 to 5, and there are no heavy bettors, according to firms which handle commissions.

4000 Americans Set to Quit China

SHANGHAI, Oct. 22 (AP)—More than 4000 applications of American citizens in the Orient for passage to the United States are on file, and steamship companies reported today that no cancellations had been received despite protests against evacuation fares which some Americans term "almost prohibitive."

Many seem to hope for a last-minute development which might make departure unnecessary, but most of the Americans appear reconciled to leaving, taking the view that unless the United States forces a showdown now with Japan, it will be only a matter of time until all American business cultural and religious interests are squeezed out of the Far East.

JAPS DENY HAVING PHILIPPINE AIMS

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND

Chief Foreign Correspondent for the Hearst Newspapers and for 28 Years Outstanding American Political Observer in Europe and the Far East.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22—Yosuke Matsuoka, Japanese foreign minister, in a cablegram from Tokyo, answers me with characteristic directness a number of questions I asked him by cable.

"Has Japan any future designs on the Philippines?" I asked the foreign minister.

"None," was Matsuoka's laconic reply.

"How would Japan regard a revocation by Congress of the forthcoming independence of the Philippines?"

The Japanese foreign minister answered:

"That's an internal affair of the United States and not a proper subject for me to discuss."

"How would Japan regard an American naval base at Singapore?"

Matsuoka wasted no words on that question.

"Unfavorably," was his terse reply.

NO DESIGNS ON INDIES

"Has Japan any designs against or intentions of occupying the Dutch East Indies?"

The foreign minister's cable reply to that question:

"No conquest, no oppression, no exploitation' is Japan's motto in greater East Asia."

"What are the main disturbing factors in the relations between America and Japan as seen from Tokyo?"

Cabled the Japanese foreign minister:

"American inability to appreciate Japan's real aims, her determination and her sincerity in attempting to establish a new order in East Asia. Use a little imagination and place yourself in Japan's most difficult position. Then, I feel, Americans will not fail to understand."

"What are the prospects for ending the Sino-Japanese war?" was my next question.

"GOOD CHANCE"

Matsuoka replied: "There is a good chance, particularly if the West leaves Japan and China alone."

"What was the impelling factor causing Japan to enter into alliance with the axis powers?"

"The earnest wish for early recovery of peace by limiting the theaters of war and number of combatants. Also Japan's ideal to establish real and enduring peace, just and equitable, based on a new world order in which all peoples may have their own proper places with freedom of each to determine their own destinies."

"On what basis is Japan ready to make peace with China?" was my last question.

The Japanese foreign minister was not very informative on that point. His cable answer was the terse:

"On a negotiable basis."

Iron Guards Try To Bar King From Jew's Shop

BUCHAREST, Oct. 22 (INS)—An attempt by five Iron Guard (Fascist) legionnaires to prevent young King Michael and Queen Mother Helen from making purchases in a Jewish shop at near-by Brasso caused a mild sensation today.

Vice-Premier Horia Sima, leader of the Iron Guards, called at the royal palace later and apologized to King Michael.

While the young King and his mother were in the shop five legionnaires stepped up to the King's aide, who was waiting on the outside, and demanded he tell the King and his mother they were shopping in a Jewish-owned establishment.

The aide refused and ordered the legionnaires away. Sharp words developed, whereupon King Michael rejoined his aide, called the police and ordered the legionnaires arrested.

LA GUARDIA COLLARS BOSS FLYNN TAUNTER

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 21 (INS)—A very confused little Welshman, who said he will definitely vote for Willkie now, today was collared and shaken by visiting Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York.

The Welshman was E. H. Owen, 51, of Ferndale, Mich., a repairman for a motorbus company, who aroused the ire of the "Little Flower" from New York as LaGuardia was leaving the City Hall. Owen asked the mayor: "Are you taking orders from Boss Flynn?"

The reference, of course, was to Edward J. Flynn, Democratic national chairman. — Editor's Note.

Mayor LaGuardia, flushed in the face, drew up to his full height of 5 feet 2 inches, and with a bellow of rage grasped Owen firmly by the neck.

"Take that back! Take that back, you!" he shouted into Owen's face, as only La Guardia can shout.

Owen couldn't take it back. The "Little Flower" had a strangle hold on his neck. Patrolman Elwyn McCall and Inspector Jesse Meade finally broke the two up just as the collar of Owen's shirt gave away. He was rushed off to Central station where he told his story to reporters. "Can you imagine," he managed between gasps, "a thing like this happening in America?"

"Why, I used to live in New York and read all kinds of stories about La Guardia calling Boss Flynn names when he was running for mayor. I just wanted to find out for myself if he had really changed in his attitude towards Flynn."

Owen was more worried about what his wife would say to him than what the police were going to do.

"If I go home now," he told Inspector Fred Steffens, "my wife will accuse me of being drunk. Would Owen prosecute LaGuardia for assault and battery he was asked by Inspector Steffens.

"No sir," he retorted, "that would be too doggone cheap."

"I'm sorry about this, gentlemen," Owen declared. "I never believed it could happen in America. It's the end of civilization when a man says you can't open your mouth."

F. D. Jr., Hurls Challenge to School Heckler

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 22 (AP) Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., today offered to debate a heckler during a Drake University students' meeting here.

Interrupted by occasional shouts of "Yes, Willkie," the President's son said:

"I asked that fellow once to come up here and say that I would just love to debate him."

"Why didn't your father accept?" somebody asked.

"Why don't you ask him?" Roosevelt countered, then continued:

"I'll tell you why he didn't accept the offer to go and speak in Baltimore on the same platform with Willkie. If you are going to ask a friend to your house for dinner, you send a personal invitation, don't you?"

"Willkie asked the President through the press. Do I go and place an ad in the local paper that I want Mr. Jones to come to my house on a Saturday night, if he happens to read it?"

"Besides, if the President ever got on the same platform with Willkie, Willkie would withdraw his nomination for the presidency."

The crowd applauded.

F. D. SPEAKING TRIP TIED UP TO DEFENSE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (INS)—White House announcement today of President Roosevelt's itinerary in the Philadelphia area tomorrow disclosed the Chief Executive will combine a quest for Pennsylvania's 36 electoral votes with more inspections of national defense facilities.

The presidential special will leave Washington about noon for Wilmington, Del., where the President will make a rear platform speech.

The party will arrive in Philadelphia at about 3 p. m. Mr. Roosevelt will motor to Camden, N. J., to inspect the New York Ship Building Company's yards. Returning to Philadelphia he will visit the Cramp Shipyard and will wind up at Frankfort Arsenal.

The Chief Executive will motor to Convention Hall where, from 9:15 to 10 p. m., E. S. T., he will deliver the first of five paid for political addresses over the Red Network of NBC and the Columbia Broadcasting System.

South Boston, suffered a skull fracture, other head injuries and leg abrasions. He also was taken to City Hospital.

Lewis, CIO Head, For Willkie

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (INS)—John L. Lewis, president of labor's CIO and head of the United Mine Workers of America, will endorse Wendell L. Willkie for the presidency and condemn President Roosevelt's ambition for a third term in a radio address to the nation Friday night, it was learned today.

Editor's Note.—Labor's Non-partisan League announced today that Lewis would speak from 9 to 9:30 p. m. Friday over the Columbia Broadcasting System, and the Red Network of the National Broadcasting Co. A spokesman said a third network probably would be added.

Lewis will "go all the way," as did Sen. Hiram W. Johnson of California, last Friday night. Four years ago Lewis went "all the way" for Roosevelt—in "influence, speeches and contributions."

The CIO leader will deliver a 30-minute speech over the three major radio networks to explain his preference for Willkie over Roosevelt. It will be the third "surprise" attack on the third-term campaign in two weeks, the first having been that of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and the second that of Sen. Johnson.

Friends say Lewis will charge the President with breaking his promises to organized labor and with having created a war hysteria in America that may lead to the destruction of labor's hard-won rights.

18 Mexico Moves Closer to U. S. By Voiding Jap Oil, Iron Deals

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 22 (AP)—Mexico is turning down Japanese bids for her oil and scrap iron as a contribution to Western Hemisphere solidarity, high government officials declared today.

President Cardenas has decided to cancel a large oil concession granted last week to Japanese interests in Mexico, and a $400,000 offer by Japanese agents for Mexican scrap iron has been rejected, these officials said, because of Japanese-American tensions in the Pacific.

They described the decisions as a concrete demonstration that Mexico is prepared to collaborate with the United States and other American republics to safeguard the Western Hemisphere against any danger from abroad.

NO OFFICIAL DATE

These sources gave no indication when cancellation of the oil concession to the Tokyo-controlled Veracruzana company for exploiting 247,000 acres in Vera Cruz State would become official.

The deal will be voided as unconstitutional, a government spokesman said, because a constitutional amendment prohibiting such concessions, sponsored by President Cardenas after expropriation of foreign-owned oil properties in 1938, was ratified recently by a majority of the state legislatures, although it has not yet been promulgated.

CALL ACT ILLEGAL

"To demonstrate Mexico's adherence to the hemisphere policy of solidarity before the world crisis threatening the continent across both oceans, the President desires that what was actually not only an error of judgment, but an illegal act, be rectified immediately," the spokesman said.

Of the bid for scrap iron, the spokesman said:

"We did not want it to appear that Mexico would sell scrap iron that Japan might convert to use against the United States in the Orient end in open hostilities."

President Cardenas has been conferring with his ambassador to the United States, Dr. Francisco Castillo Najera, on "all outstanding issues between the United States and Mexico."

DEADLOCK REPORTED

Responsible sources said he believed a formula for settling several matters had been approved, but that a "deadlock" has been reached on other questions. He said he had participated in the conferences, but was not authorized to disclose the subjects discussed because of their "delicacy and importance."

This source said however a general settlement of United States claims against Mexico for American-owned farm lands expropriated since 1927 was one matter under consideration.

AID FOR WOUNDED—Released by the Germans with over a hundred other critically wounded French prisoners, an injured poilu arrives in Vichy, capital of the French government, supported by two nurses. AXIS URGES FRANCE TO BATTLE BRITAIN range with France. For a fortnight, the German press has refrained from saying anything derogatory about the vanquished nation.

British Prime Minister Winston Churchill's appeal last night to France to refrain from doing anything that might hurt the British cause, finally gives substance, however, to recurring intimations that German negotiations with France a visit by Kon R. Bennet may clinch them.

Whether Von Bennet, if really bound for Vichy, will continue on to Madrid, and after that visit Moscow also was the question for speculation in the German capital. In a chain of circumstantial evidence, however, the following points may be mentioned:

1—Rumors concerning negotiations with France have been recurring here with frequency in the past weeks.

2—Hints by authorized sources the Balkans are a matter of secondary importance to other events in the offing.

MOVES IN MYSTERY

3—Usual secrecy with which Von Ribbentrop's present movements are shrouded.

4—Fact that his press chief, Dr. Paul Schmidt, has also been out of town for several days.

5—Churchill's unusual appeal to France at this particular time. Berlin observers were particularly struck by Churchill's plea that if France cannot help Britain at least she should not hinder her former ally.

It is generally believed here Churchill has knowledge of German-French negotiations which prompted him to make his declaration.

French official sources at Vichy declared they were not particularly concerned with Churchill's radio appeal because he made no direct reference to the Vichy government. These sources added that they noticed particularly that the British war leader also made no direct reference to Gen. Charles de Gaulle, who has set up a "free French" movement in London opposed to the Vichy government.—Editor's note.

There are practical considerations which make the rumors of a French-German rapprochement seem plausible.

For one thing, it is believed here the French are finding Vichy highly unsuitable as a seat of government and Chief of State Philippe Petain might seize the opportunity of concluding a definite peace with Germany rather than continuing armistice conditions which make return of the government to Paris unfeasible.

Petain Aide Sees Tie With Germany Vital

VICHY, Oct. 22 (INS)—Indicating the Petain government may be considering closer co-operation with the Axis powers, Foreign Minister Paul Baudouin today told American correspondents:

"Collaboration with Germany is absolutely necessary."

"If we look at a map and consider importance of the French-German bloc, we realize the absurdity of our previous policy which has France and Germany continually opposing one another," Baudouin added.

main line southwest of Düsseldorf and on the airfield at St. Leger.

In New York, NBC picked up an official British radio broadcast stating that radio stations in Germany, Holland, Norway and Denmark closed down early last night, indicating that British bombers again were carrying out extensive raids over the European continent. — Editor's Note.

NAZI RAIDS ON BRITAIN

As if in retaliation German planes resumed the assault on London shortly after noon, when warning sirens signalled their return after a quiet morning in which the capital was unmolested.

A lone raider dumped bombs on a southeast coast town, wrecking houses and hitting a church. German planes also were seen over a West Midlands town.

Meanwhile, British press dispatches told of terrific damage to German-held invasion bases along the channel coast.

The Daily Mail said the RAF and British Navy have wrecked the Nazi-occupied ports, all of which were reported in flames, and predicted the Germans may be forced to move out.

All last night, the Mail added, British bombers were busy continuing the previous night's attacks, which were perhaps the heaviest the RAF has dealt since war began.

TERRIFIC FIRE SET

According to the Daily Express the German radio station at Bieslau broadcast details of a terrific fire at the French port of Le Havre, stating that the conflagration was so great it was impossible to attack the heart of the blaze and that the only hope was to control it at the edges.

This account said every available man was fighting the fire.

All newspapers reported that yesterday the entire French channel coast appeared to be ablaze and that even at midday the intense glow could be seen from the English coast.

German raiders attacked London again during the night and also hammered other sections of England. But the capital's defenses functioned well and the closing hours of the attack were quieter even than those of the previous night.

Liverpool and other Merseyside areas, however, took a heavy and lengthy pounding. High explosives and incendiary bombs were dropped on Liverpool but casualties were reported slight.

A number of Liverpool buildings including a church were damaged and an empty street car was blown to bits. Three Midlands towns were attacked but chief damage was confined to three schools, a hotel, a motion picture theater and some shops.

In one of these towns a number of people were killed and injured and some damage resulted from incendiary fires.

A Home Recipe For Gray Hair

Here is an easy way to give a touch of youth to graying hair. This gray hair recipe, easily prepared at home, is used by thousands to touch up graying locks, at a fraction of the usual cost. Here it is:

Get from your druggist one ounce bay rum; one-fourth ounce glycerine; one box Barbo Compound. Mix in half pint of water or your druggist will mix for you at small cost. Simply comb into the hair several times a week. A rich, natural-looking color is imparted to gray, streaked hair. This color is easily maintained; will not wash out; rub off; or affect permanents. Does not stain the scalp; is not sticky or greasy and leaves the hair soft and glossy. Try the money-saving Barbo recipe today and see how many years younger you will look.

Britain Plans Land Offensive For Huge Army

LONDON, Oct. 22 (AP)—Lord Croft, undersecretary for war, indicated in a speech today that Britain looked forward to undertaking a land offensive in some theater and declared "the war can never be won without a military decision, east or west, or on both fronts."

"That is why we are building up a great army," he added. "It must be an army of superior efficiency."

Speaking to a group of film industrialists, Lord Croft said the government planned to use motion pictures extensively to show British soldiers "the weak points in the animal against whom they have to fight."

Red-Turk Pact May Aid Axis

Turkish alliance, especially since Bulgaria was reported to have fallen into the sphere of axis influence.

The alternative of Russian or British aid still was said to be puzzling Turkish officials. Bulgaria's new position further complicated their decision, informed quarters said. Bulgaria was understood to be ready to grant German troops free passage through the country in the event of a Balkan war.

However, Britain and Germany still vied for Bulgaria's favor. While British Minister to Sofia Rendel hurried back from the Istanbul conference, advisers from the Bulgarian capital said Hungarian help for the axis already had been won by German Education Minister Bernhard Rust after a series of conferences with King Boris and Premier Filoff.

Kennedy Starts His Flight Home

LONDON, Oct. 22 (INS)—American Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy left here today by air for Lisbon en route back to the United States.

Although Washington dispatches have stated he was merely returning for consultations with President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull, the belief prevailed here he would soon relinquish his post as ambassador.

William C. Bullitt, former American ambassador to France, was among those mentioned in American quarters here as likely to succeed Kennedy.

75 Extra Trains To Help Evacuate Berlin Children

BERLIN, Oct. 22 (AP)—The German railways are preparing to run 75 special trains between now and the end of October for the removal of children from Berlin to other parts of the Reich, especially the eastern provinces.

Families in those areas have been asked to volunteer to receive one or two children each.

Third Term Boom —For Coolidge

(Provided by the Democratic National Committee)

The Democrats-For-Willkie have repeatedly challenged this column to produce reputable witnesses, past or present, who believed there was no menace in a third Presidential term. We do so gladly.

The first is George Washington, Father of his country, who served as head of the nation for approximately 16 years, first as Commander of the Continental Army and later as President. His appetite for power did NOT grow with continuance in office. He did NOT become a dictator.

In a letter to Lafayette, which has frequently been distorted by partial quotation, Washington stated his views definitely and conclusively. He reviewed the arguments on both sides of the question and then he added:

"Under an extended view of this part of the subject, I can see no propriety in precluding ourselves from the services of any man, who on some great emergency should be deemed universally most capable of serving the public."

George Washington, as an humble man, said "in my judgment" when he expressed his personal views on the subject. His judgment should certainly be as competent as that of the Willkie Democrats.

The second witness is Thomas Jefferson who, for over a long period, was vigorously opposed to the third term in principle. But later he wrote about "a circumstance which could engage my acquiescence in another election, to wit: such a division about my successor as might bring in a monarchist."

When Jefferson said monarchist, he referred to a follower of Alexander Hamilton who founded the Republican Party. Jefferson indicated he might seek a third term to forestall THAT menace.

ALL REPUBLICANS

Next, as witnesses, we offer the following distinguished statesmen:

Charles Evans Hughes, venerable and respected Chief Justice of the United States, who advocated a third term for President Coolidge.

William Howard Taft, former President and former Chief Justice, who advocated a third term for President Coolidge.

Herbert Hoover, former President, who advocated a third term for President Coolidge.

Andrew Mellon, the greatest Secretary of the Treasury since Hamilton (at one time), who advocated a third term for President Coolidge.

Senator Charles McNary, Vice-Presidential nominee of the Republican Party, who voted against a Senate resolution condemning a third term for any man.

To mention a few more on a long list—Henry Ford, the industrialist; the late Ogden Mills, Rep. James W. Wadsworth, and three former Republican postmasters general.

In fact, it is fair to say that in 1928, the majority of influential Republicans scoffed at the so-called third term tradition and said it had no validity.

CHIEF JUSTICE HUGHES

Next we offer a comment of Charles Evans Hughes in 1928, opposing the election of Gov. Alfred Smith to the Presidency. He said:

"In the range of his activities he has hardly touched the important difficulties which he would have to face as President. I do not think he knows much about them.

"He will have to be content with what he is told, without being able to bring a sound critical faculty, nurtured by study and experience, to the examination of these problems. This may suit many who will not understand the differences. But it is not the leadership to which the country is entitled. Why should we be content with it if we can have a better leadership?

"Qualifications for our highest office are not produced overnight. They are the slow growth of years of observation, of study, of reflection, of contact with practical affairs."

That statement by the present Chief Justice fits Candidate Willkie perfectly and exactly. Al Smith had been an excellent Governor of New York. If his election would have been unjustified in a period of comparative quiet, what about the election of Mr. Willkie in this difficult time?

We ask the Willkie Democrats, in fairness, to study the reasoning of Chief Justice Hughes. And we ask the favor of a reply. They were so insistent on learning our views.

No Third Term Day And No Third Term

(Provided by the National Committee of Democrats-For-Willkie)

National "No Third Term Day" will be observed on Wednesday, Oct. 23, in every town and city of the United States by the millions of Americans who fear that Mr. Roosevelt's grab for continued power is a long step toward dictatorship.

These Americans include Democrats, Independents and Republicans. Among them, from reports we are receiving from all over the country, are many voters who until recently had not "made up their minds." Most of these believe that Mr. Roosevelt is not consciously seeking dictatorial powers. But they know what power and still more power does to any individual who obtains it, and they see a real danger to our form of government in the claim that Mr. Roosevelt—and Mr. Roosevelt only—is today the "indispensable man."

On Oct. 23 they will register their protest against this attempt to undermine our democracy. Rallies, parades, speeches will feature the day in all our communities. New York, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and other great cities are planning monster demonstrations. At 10:30 p. m. Eastern Standard time, Mr. Willkie will give a message to the nation in a coast-to-coast broadcast. Even in far-off Alaska, citizens opposed to a Third Term for any man will observe the day, and have organized groups and hired halls where the address of Mr. Willkie and the words of local speakers will be heard.

And on Nov. 5, these millions of Americans from every part of our country will observe another "National No Third Term Day" at the polls.

The Democrats-for-Roosevelt are showing evident signs of panic at the rising tide of resentment against the Third Term.

They have tried from the first to conceal this issue by a barrage of lying propaganda directed against Mr. Willkie personally.

The ridiculous charge that Mr. Willkie, who fought against Germany in the first World War, was somehow tied up with Hitler has been made in speeches by Mr. Roosevelt's running mate, Henry A. Wallace, and by his other henchman, Governor Lehman of New York.

And only the other day, Chairman Flynn of the Democrats-for-Roosevelt and Charley Michelson, their publicity director, were caught red-handed in an attempt to spread their baseless charge further, and to inflame race prejudice by smearing Mr. Willkie as anti-Negro.

This about Wendell Willkie, who defended Negro soldiers before courts-martial in France, and who battled as a young lawyer in Ohio against the Ku Klux Klan!

The panic pervading the Third Term camp is further shown by the sudden decision of Mr. Roosevelt to make an outright political tour, with outright political speeches, in an attempt to halt the swing of state after state into the Willkie column.

Oddly enough, Mr. Roosevelt has picked the evening of Oct. 23—"National No Third Term Day"—for his first big broadcast.

It would seem that the Third Term candidate is upset at the observance of that day by millions of voters, and would like to distract national attention from it as much as possible.

It is also evident that Mr. Roosevelt is dropping his former pretense that the international situation would keep him from making political speeches. The international situation is as bad as ever, but the latest polls are worse—for Mr. Roosevelt. Maybe that has something to do with his decision to leave Washington at this "critical period" and go on a stumping tour of the states he has to carry if he succeeds in his Third Term grab.

Mr. Roosevelt has not yet changed his program of "non-political" visits of inspection to some of our arsenals and munitions factories. These, however, will not include inspections of the dummy guns, trucks masquerading as tanks, and imaginary airplanes with which some of our soldiers are now training. In fact, whether Mr. Roosevelt's inspections are "defense trips" or "self-defense trips" is a question which we leave to our readers to answer.

Distrustful of Mr. Roosevelt's appetite for power, distrustful of his ability to build up our defenses, distrustful of his foreign policy and the grave consequences that it may bring to our country, the American people are doing some earnest figuring on the question of whether Roosevelt or Willkie ought to be the next occupant of the White House.

They are getting these answers:

Roosevelt + Third Term = WAR
Willkie + National Defense = PEACE

Atom Breaker Seen Aid to Cancer Cure

This is the second article by G. B. Lal, International News Service science editor and co-winner of the Pulitzer prize, in which Mr. Lal surveys the progress made in cancer research and tells of prospects for reaching the goal of eventual prevention and cure.

By G. B. LAL

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE SCIENCE EDITOR

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (INS)—Among the most spectacular efforts to discover the cure for cancer are the new methods of applying radiations now being developed by atom-smashing physicists.

By radiation is meant energy that is produced from atoms in the form of rays of light or of streams of atomic particles.

Not only ordinary visible light but also the invisible most penetrating X-rays and the Gamma rays of radium are forms of light.

Scientific research is now going on to discover the best types of radiations for particular varieties of cancer.

It is also being investigated just how a beam of X-ray or Gamma-ray kills cancer cells.

"Bombardment" of cancer cells with electrons, neutrons and protons, which are particles that constitute the atom, is only another phase of the same problem.

INDUS NEW METHOD

Scientists are trying to find out how to apply all these forms of radiations so that the cancer cells are destroyed, but the healthy tissues of the body remained as much unharmed as possible.

Dr. G. Failla of the New York Memorial Hospital has found a new method of employing X-rays.

Before applying X-rays to the body, Dr. Failla injects distilled water into cancer tumors. The cancer cells become bloated with water. In this condition they are much easier to destroy with X-rays than ordinarily. Dr. Failla's experiments on animals show.

TEST USEFULNESS

How useful this method turns out in treatment of human cancer, the Memorial hospital scientists are now endeavoring to find out.

Atom smashing cyclotrons produced neutron particles by breaking up atoms.

Dr. P. Kruger of the University of Illinois, Prof. John R. Dunning of Columbia and other scientists have developed a method of using neutrons in the treatment of cancer.

By injection of boric acid, which contains boron, and other such chemicals, into the body, the way is prepared for the action of the neutrons. When slow speed neutrons are hurled at the cancer tumor, they are captured by the atoms of the previously injected substances. These atoms then explode and destroy cancer cells.

AID FOR LEUKEMIA

Atom smashing also has provided some 300 radio-active substances. Iridio phosphorus is one of these products.

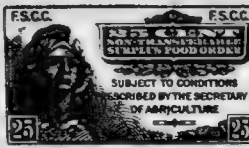

When given to a person radio phosphorus throws out beams of electrons. These particles destroy the cells of leukemia, a disease of the white blood cells very similar to cancer.

While no cure of leukemia has been accomplished, great relief has been given to a number of patients treated at the New York Memorial Hospital.

Downs to Address Drysalers Club

Kenneth T. Downs, famed foreign correspondent for the International News Service, will be the main speaker at the regular fall meeting of the Drysalers Club of New England in the Swiss Room of the Copley-Plaza Hotel Friday night. It was announced today.

Members of the club—identified with the dyestuff and chemical industry—will have a business meeting, a dinner and then hear Downs' uncensored talk on "The Tragedy of France."

FOOD STAMP FACSIMILE Boston to Use Them

Food Stamp Plan in Hub Next Month

With a working force established at headquarters at the Park Square building, officials of the food stamp system, today said, could make about 30 days before the new plan is put into actual operation in Boston.

Among other things, the officials and clerks must check accurately the receipt of $2.00 in food stamps which entitles a person to $2.00 worth of food.

The stamp plan will involve the purchase of $2.00 worth of food products in the stores of the city in the next year, according to A. A. Atkinson, executive in charge, from Washington.

GRONINOWICH 1410 He said Mayor Tobin had been striving for eight or nine months to install the food stamp system here and that the groundwork was already laid.

"It's going to be a big thing all around," added Chief Atkinson. "The advantage of the food stamp system may be appreciated at a glance when it is realized that recipients will receive stamps which will increase their food-buying power by 50 per cent. That means bigger sales by local merchants, but what is more important, increased food supplies to worthy families."

"We are going through the lists with a fine tooth comb to make sure that only the deserving get aid. Food stamps, in the amount mentioned, will be distributed every two weeks to all WPA families, excepting those with only one or two members. There will be the rationed aid to dependent children and also sailors and soldiers' relief."

LISTS CHECKED The lists will be checked immediately. The substitution of the food stamp system will do away with food distributing depots and correct abuses, such as allowances to unworthy persons and those who are reported to have wasted much that they received.

Conrad Crooker Denies $400 Theft

Conrad W. Crooker, prominent Boston attorney, was arraigned in municipal court today on a warrant charging him with larceny of $400 from Meredith E. Wyman of Shrewsbury. Crooker pleaded not guilty and was released in his own recognizance. Special Officer Daniel Donovan of the Jay at station requested a 10 day continuance, which was granted by Judge F. Delano Putnam.

Musician Wins Divorce, Child

Mrs. Louise M. Debit of Malden was granted an uncontested divorce from James J. Debit, grocery store manager, in Middlesex Probate Court today after she testified he never gave her any money and that she had to play the piano evenings to support herself and her child.

On one occasion, she said, he did give her $2 a loan and when he demanded she pay, she borrowed it from her mother.

When he learned that, she said, he went into a rage, tore up the $2 and threw it in her face.

"I picked up the pieces to mend it because after all $2 is $2," she testified. "Then he grabbed it away from me again."

Later, she charged, he punched her nose.

She testified he used to stay out nights until 3 a. m. and told her he was attending meetings of chain-store executives.

"You mean the meetings lasted until 1 a. m.?" asked Judge Joseph W. Monahan.
"That was his story," she said. She was awarded custody of the child and $15 a week alimony.

NO MORE FLOODS . . . FOR MERRIMACK RIVER

Government's $10,000,000 Project Wipes Out Town as Workmen Excavate for 130-Foot High Dam

Town Sacrificed For Flood Control

By JAMES F. MCENANEY

While billions of dollars are being spent for national defense purposes and millions of men through registration are offering their lives and service to the nation, a quaint Yankee town located in the valley of picturesque New Hampshire hills, is about to give its life for New England flood control.

Within a very few weeks the 88 families of the township of Hill, New Hampshire, will sacrifice their houses, businesses, and their all, to save thousands of inhabitants of the Merrimack Valley from any future disaster of floods.

Under the Federal Flood Control Act being carried out by the Engineer Bureau of the War Department the most white buildings of what is now the Town of Hill, will be inundated by the waters from the Merrimack, forming a huge man-made reservoir.

FAMILIES MOVE OUT

But the Hillites in a mild body are daily moving out of their about to be destroyed homes, dating many years back, and setting up a few township, about a mile east, at the foot of Hise mountain.

And there in the new and promised land, free from the occasional ravaging flood waters of the Merrimack, a town, the newest town in these United States. Meanwhile, with the new corps of 1000 men, men, excavating machinery, trucks and whatever else goes to build a huge dam and submerge a township in a full operation, they are to complete their flood-control project in about a year.

Like the defense program, New England's flood control project is an act of vital importance, a job for the new purpose of national defense and progress.

The Franklin Falls Dam and Hill Reservoir is the first unit of a system of flood control for the Merrimack river authorized by Congress. The dam site is located about three miles north of Franklin, N. H., and 100 miles north of Boston.

The dam is being excavated of red earth fill, with a

EACH YEAR when we see the new automobiles we say to ourselves:

"Here at last is the peak of perfection. Surely, nothing the future will bring can ever excel this."

But the next year does excel the year before, and always yesterday's dream becomes today's reality.

That is particularly true this year, as the thousands who are visiting the showrooms of Boston automobile dealers know.

Seats as luxuriously soft as the living room's best chair, temperatures marvelously regulated, motors and gears that respond to the touch of the operator's finger, colors chosen and blended to satisfy every taste and whim—the 1941 models are as truly wonderful as genius and enterprise can make them.

Yet, in spite of the scores of costly improvements, prices remain well within the limits of the average bank account.

This is possible because the automobile industry has equipped itself to build BETTER automobiles, with an abiding confidence that the people will buy them.

It has anticipated conditions in the country that justify re-employment and expenditures for the IMPROVED product.

It has put hundreds of thousands of men back to work, not in merely filling orders, but with firm assurance that there WILL BE ORDERS.

Not content to lag behind America, or even to go ahead with America, it has SHOWN THE WAY to America, while contributing immeasurably to the nation's security by filling defense orders.

To all readers we say:

"Visit our Boston automobile dealers. See the new, beautiful and BEST motor cars yet produced. And TAKE ONE HOME WITH YOU."

"It will be an investment in happiness for yourself and a promise of added prosperity for the country."

A FAVORITE REMARK, used over and over by the Roosevelt Administration spokesmen in advocating a third term, is that we are in "midstream" and we should not swap horses.

To this, Wendell L. Willkie very pertinently and convincingly answered the other day:

"What are we doing in the middle of the stream? How did we get there?"

"Moreover, there comes a time when it is very wise to get off that horse in midstream, because if we don't both you and the horse will sink."

We got into midstream—a very turbulent and dangerous midstream—and are stuck there in the mud because the current Administration insisted on adventuring into alien regions when it should have stayed on the old American trails.

At the beginning of Mr. Roosevelt's regime we were promised "green pastures" and a "land of plenty."

But the President listened to false guides, to men who had learned adventuring and experimenting in the schools of Moscow and Berlin.

It was these men who got us into the middle of the stream, where we are unable to go forward.

As a matter of simple fact, with debts, deficits and taxes climbing to record heights and the country facing a war not of our making or choice, it is no longer a question at all of swapping horses and sticking to the old nag.

What we, in midstream, will soon need is a life-preserver or a rowboat—preferably both, for the mud is up to our knees and the waters are rolling over our heads.

And night is coming on in the guise of a THIRD FOUR-YEAR PLAN!

There is, however, one thing that can save us and float us to dry land again—

It's the BALLOT BOX, on November 5.

SH-H-H! SHUSH!! Lower your voice. Muzzle the radio. Walk quietly, especially if you wear wooden heels. And, above all, do not honk your automobile horn!

Noise Abatement Week, solemnly ordained by Mayor Tobin, is upon us, and its success depends on everybody's being willing to co-operate and do his part.

The idea is a good one.

The hubbub of modern life does tremendous harm to health and to dispositions.

No human being is so constituted that his ear drums can be bombarded from morning to night without showing bad effects eventually.

However, though our best efforts may never make Boston as silent as the proverbial tomb, we still have a great deal for which to be thankful.

The sounds we hear are usually the sounds of men and machines engaged in PEACEFUL enterprises.

On the other side of the Atlantic, particularly in London and Berlin, the story is different.

On The Side

TWICE as many bachelors die between the ages of 20 and 30 as do married men of the same age. So claims Longevity Research Expert Martin Gately. He says widows and wives of clergymen live the longest. Dr. Serga Voronoff says we all should live to be 140 years old. A human being matures at 20, reasons Dr. Voronoff, and should, as most higher mammals, live seven times that. How would you like to live that long, mister? Imagine celebrating your 115th wedding anniversary. And also imagine being able to say to a managing editor: "Don't try to tell me what to do. I've been in this business 120 years!"

AL JOLSON has had the same chauffeur for 29 years. That may be the record for long-term chauffeur service. . . . Carl Meyer, once an assistant to Louis Pasteur, died in Denver the other day. Meyer contracted tuberculosis when a child he was treating coughed in his face. Shows how dangerous it is to have people cough in your face. Majority of colds are contracted this way in big cities. Perhaps there should be a law, as was suggested here before, that every one with a cold wear a mask. If that is not possible perhaps we should all wear masks in winter. That's what we did during the influenza epidemic in 1918. . . . Joan Crawford seems to have become a real New

JOAN CRAWFORD WITH PET DACHSHUNDS

Yorker. She has moved three times in three months from Gracie Sq. to the Ritz-Towers to the Savoy-Plaza. If Joan wants a good part to play I suggest she consider a film version of James Forbes' "The Famous Mrs. Fair."

HAT DESIGNERS should be able to patent designs and benefit from their originality. Surely, if you can patent a plant you should be able to patent a hat. . . . Helen Hayes was offered $85,000 to appear in one film, which offer she refused. What's the idea of offering America's first actress $35,000 a picture? Greta Garbo has received $500,000 a film and Marlene Dietrich $300,000. Why, even William Powell gets $150,000 a picture. . . . Edwin C. Hill, brilliant columnist and radio news commentator, was once a producer of western films in Hollywood. . . . It is said that if an automobile were built as the average house is assembled the lowest priced car on the market would cost $15,000. On the other hand, there are houses built with same mass production methods as automobiles. Some of these sell for as low as a thousand dollars.

MY DAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22—It is always exciting to come home from a trip when you have visited your family, because there are so many foolish little things you have to tell.

It may seem trivial when the world is in a turmoil, to tell the President of the United States that Anna's baby, Johnnie, has curis that should belong to a girl and that I deeply resent their not being on somebody's head who could enjoy them the rest of her life!

Of course, they will have to be cut off and he will spend hours trying to slick his hair straight when he grows older. Nevertheless, the President is interested and I really think it is good for him, for the little things of life are important and one tends to forget them in the stress of great events.

My mother-in-law wanted to hear every detail about the children and announced that she must get on a plane and go to Seattle at once to see Johnnie before his curls are cut off!

THE DRIVE up the river to Hyde Park Sunday was pleasant because the air was delightfully snappy. But as far as having a chance to look at the scenery, that was out of the question. Miss Thompson decided I had to work and when she makes that decision my nose is left to the grindstone, so I read letters the whole way to Hyde Park.

Lunch at the big house with my mother-in-law and her guests was delightful. The Governor-General and his wife, Princess Alice, and their daughter, Lady May Abel Smith, were all very friendly and attractive.

I was sorry to leave in the afternoon in order to catch up with my work and be free yesterday to keep my various engagements. We meant to come down to Washington by train, but I forgot that even on a wretched autumn Sunday, traffic going to

New York City would be very heavy, so we missed the train and took a plane instead.

A very nice young man, who sat across the aisle from us, said he was coming down to start in on a job here. He was reading Romain Rolland and, after a while, said he thought he would finish his volume some day, but 't didn't look to him as though our mail would ever be done.

If the serious things of the world depress you too much, I recommend that you go out and buy a book called: "My Mother Is A Violent Woman," by Tommy Wadleton. The gentleman may not be as young as his name or his style indicates, but he certainly has the gift of making a family group seem alive.

He describes his character in a delightful way, always with the humorous side to the fore. I feel as though I knew "The Violent Woman" and, knowing her, no one could help liking her.

FARLEY WILL MAKE NO SPEECHES

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Jim Farley will issue a statement concerning Roosevelt's campaign. He won't make any speeches—but his statement will be broadcast. . . . Erskine Caldwell's book, "Tobacco Road," will be republished shortly—many years after the original publication was adapted by Jack Kirkland into a record-breaking play. Caldwell, who recently returned from Central America, is writing a musical comedy about a republic south of the border. Harold Rome, author of "Fine and Needles," will furnish the music. . . . Charlie Chaplin now is contemplating cutting some parts of his movie, "The Great Dictator," pursuant to the advice offered by the film reviewers.

H. G. WELLS LUNCHEONED with Lady Castlerosse and reminisced of their last meeting in London. Lady Castlerosse then asked Wells about his immediate plans and if there would be an opportunity to meet again shortly. . . . Wells, whose agent has booked him for lecture appearances in Birmingham, Ala., and Chicago, then a flight to the Coast and additional flights to meet engagements, shrugged his shoulders and sighed: "I see myself literally and figuratively up in the air."

JOHN HAY WHITNEY, who has a financial interest in "Charley's Aunt," attended the premiere last week. During the intermission he was introduced to Arthur H. Whitney of Wall Street. "I see we have the same middle initial," said the socialite Whitney. "What does your 'H' stand for?" "Well," informed the broker, "it ain't Hay" . . . Cafe society thieves are reaping a harvest at the benefit parties. LADY CASTLEROSSE Aurio Lee, the director, lost her fur coat, and Marion MUI-Preminger lost a purse containing jewels and $1000 at parties for the benefit of Britain.

A PRODUCER, who has never permitted any agents into his office but insists that they negotiate through his assistants, began to feel that his prestige was waning. He asked another producer for some advice and was warned about his treatment of agents. "Because of the attitude you've taken against agents," he was told, "important decisions about talent and properties have been delayed by this indirect method. That's the only thing wrong with you" . . . "From now on," the producer vowed, "my doors are open to all agents" . . . One of the prominent agents, who always had been spurned there, heard of the change and secured his revenge immediately—by selling to the producer eight properties rejected by all other studios.

RUTH ST. DENIS and Ted Shawn, who originated the Denishawn dancers and were among the foremost teams in the profession—before their marriage was severed—both visited the Rainbow Room Friday night. In response to requests, they danced together once more.

FLATSBURG TRAINEES assembled the other night to see some movies which had been promised them. The British Consulate had been asked about supplying some films, but had none at hand. And so the boys were shown the German film about the invasion of Poland . . . An unfounded rumor spread through New York and Washington that Jim Farley would sit with Wendell Willkie at the Fordham-St. Mary football game. Farley's office ridicules that report.

MOSS HART was interviewed by a writer assigned by Cosmopolitan, who suggested that if the playwright wouldn't mind, he'd like to question the Hart servants about their employer, and in that way obtain a complete picture of his subject. . . . Hart consented, and the interviewer later reported to Moss that Charles, his butler, had personal stationery made at Cartier's. . . . Moss, who was in Boston, phoned his butler and said: "It isn't true that you have your stationery made at Cartier's" . . . "Yes, it's true," Charles informed . . . "It can't be," Hart protested, "it can't possibly be true. Your stationery then would be better than mine" . . . The next day Hart received a letter from his butler, Charles—on personal stationery, made at Cartier's. The letter was a short one. It read: "Seef . . . It's true—Charles."

THE COURTEOUS CUSTOM traditional among the maestros of attending one another's opening-nights was observed with enthusiasm last night as Jacques Renard returned to a Boston music rostrum after a prolonged absence. . . . Autograph hounds really had a night of it . . . Handsome Vaughn Monroe journeyed the long hop from Framingham, absenting himself from his crew at Seiler's Ten Acres, to be on hand.

RANNY WEEKS from the Mayfair, Mickey Alpert from the Coconut Grove, Everett Heagland (who knew Jacques in California), the Marshard boys—who could and possibly do alternate on their various jobs so closely does Harry resemble Jack and vice versa—coming downtown from the Somerset, Bob Hardy, Henry Kalish, Al Zimmermann and Lew Bonick—maestros all—were among those present.

THE NOTABLE M. RENARD who was born in Chelsea and went on to become one of the half-dozen Greater Boston boys to become nationally known as orchestra leaders was greeting his friends from podium of the Versailles (nee the Southland) . . . As usual, Jacques was leading an accomplished set of horn-tooters and percussion men . . . The unit had the Renard tone, which is smooth and farther in the sweet than the swing side . . . Renard music was always danceable . . . It hasn't changed.

NO MORE HAS THE MASTER himself changed. . . . Not exactly sylph-like, the Renard set of chums remains three in number, showing neither increase nor evaporation . . . More important that the Renard personal charm—a unique and dominating quality—is the Renard music . . . His rivals concede him the great and commercial knack of whipping up a good band in short order.

THE VERSAILLES PREMIERE, which inaugurated a change of policy from revues peopled by ladies and gentlemen of tan, copper and black pigmentation, to a type of show known as "all-white," attracted the volatile cast of "Panama Hatlie" (excepting Miss Merman) . . . Never has a show played Boston wherein was included so malleable and obliging a crew of principals as in this latest Buddy De Sylva hit . . . The boys and girls have missed nothing resembling an "event" in Boston's nightlife since the show hit Boston.

HELEN HAYES WAS AMONG THOSE not present, although the very convincing Harry Essex, Miss Hayes' company manager, attributed her absence to a bit of trouble with sinus . . . Miss Hayes has not been a practiced gadabout since she reached the maturity which caused this column (and many others) to hail her as the First Lady of the Theater. . . . Last season, though, lovely little Helen astonished all who knew her by actually making an appearance at a nightclub . . . She may repeat, before "Twelfth Night" runs its local course . . . Not last night, however.

THE VERSAILLES BACKED THE RENARD return with a lively show . . . Gloria Whitney, a comely lass indeed—with languorous eyes—as the accompanying picture will attest—captivated a cordial audience from the first chorus of a popular repertory . . . The Versailles plans to decorate the room with a dozen or more young women of the ensemble at the next change of bill . . . Meantime, the good Jacques and his men, and the show on hand should please the roistersers.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Rudy Vallee has suspended his plans to direct motion pictures, but if a good story with a part akin to the one given Joel McCrea in "Foreign Correspondent" should come along, Rudy would be willing to act it. . . . He wants no part of picture or play which would cast him as (1) a crooner, (2) an actor, nor with a backstage, cabaret or motion picture background . . . Young John F. Kennedy's book, "While England Slept," has gone into its sixth printing, and the Ambassador's boy is determined to follow a writing

BETTE WANTS YOUNG, ROMANTIC ROLE

By Louella O. Parsons

Bette Davis

ABOARD THE CHIEF, Oct. 22.—Bette Davis, who is as smart about her career as the sagiest business man, wants to play a young, gay and romantic role—and the particular part she has her heart set on is the secretary in "The Man Who Came to Dinner." She's particularly anxious to do the Kaufman-Hart comedy now because it would fall between two heavy dramas for her—"January Heights" and "The Little Foxes" which La Davis will make for Sam Goldwyn.

When Bette was in New York she dined twice with George Kaufman and they talked about building up the girl's role until it was equal, in importance to the Mony

DORIS DAVENPORT

Woolley for if you prefer—Alexander Woodcott) starring part. It wouldn't be hard to do because the secretary certainly had snappy times and plenty of good situations in the play. John Barrymore has been talked about for the star spot in the movie. What a treat Bette and Jawn would spell at the box office!

I LIKED Doris Davenport so much in "The Westerner" because she looked like a gal who might actually be living on a Texas ranch and not like a transplanted glamour queen roughing it. So it's interesting to hear that Sam Goldwyn is loaning her to Republic for the feature lead in "A Flagpole Needs a Flag" with my friend Roy Rogers and Lloyd Nolan. That title certainly seems like a flag waver if I ever heard one, but instead it's about a small town reporter who becomes an ace writer in the big city. Speaking of Roy, he's walking on air about Cheryl, the new adopted daughter in the Rogers home. His pals are going around quoting "the bright sayings of Roy Rogers."

THE HOT HOLLYWOOD rumor before I left was that Jeanette MacDonald and MGM were on the verge of trouble because Jeanette was walking out on "I Married An Angel." It was also whispered she was "off salary" and that Nelson Eddy would make his next picture alone. Just barely had time to check the yarn with Jeanette and according to her story there's not a word of truth in any of it. She says she couldn't have turned down "I Married An Angel" because no script has been prepared—as for being off salary—she asked for her annual leave of absence now because no picture was ready for her and she wanted to go on her concert tour at this time instead of later. However, the whisper persists Nelson Eddy's next picture will be without his pretty co-star. We'll see.

SNAPSOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Four press agents sent me four different wires that Victor Mature was at four different places with four different girls! Who are you kidding, boys, or is Vic doing the kidding? Franchot Tone may be getting his picture taken everywhere with Florence Lundeen—but he still hasn't forgotten Peggy Moran's telephone number. Brod Crawford says he and Kay Griffith will be married around Nov. 10. They'll go to New York for their honeymoon.

AARON ROSENBERG, former U.S.C. football hero and now an assistant director, will be calling signals in a nursery next spring; sorry to hear that young Margaret Roach is in the Hollywood Hospital with a high temperature and bad throat infection; Betty Grable had a bad spill off a horse at Bob Oliver's Sunday—but it won't keep her from fulfilling that Chicago P.A.; the Motion Picture Mothers Incorporated dinner will be held at the Beverly Hills Hotel and profits will go for Christmas banters.

ORSON WELLES (they say his picture "Citizen Kane" is swell) leaves Wednesday for Lincoln, Nebraska, on the first lap of his lecture tour; George Raft was on the Warner lot yesterday for the first time in months, for wardrobe fittings on "The Sea Wolf"; Bert Wheeler has been doing the town with Lois Sterner, a dancer—and it looks serious; Olympe Bradina's newest Ciro's escort is Ed Jans Jr. of the real estate millionaire family; Bill Pierce, former Monogram praise agent, has gone into business for himself and here's wishing him luck; Mickey Rooney is going to warble his own song, "I'm Daffy Over You" in the next "Judge Hardy" picture; funny to leave Los Angeles in a hot wave and then get word there's a storm ahead in New York.

State Boards Rush Numbers for Draft

of volunteering, rather than waiting for the draft call.

These were advised to notify local draft boards of their desire and they will be classified ahead of those subject to call when order numbers have been established.

At Boston City Hall, it was announced again and others who have not yet been registered would now find so many local board offices open that the election commission need no longer assist them.

Three such offices at least will be open tonight, at 55 Bunker Hill st., Charlestown; at the South Army, Irvington st., and at 419 Boylston st., both Back Bay.

STIMSON TO DRAW

At the national drawing next Tuesday, Secretary of War Stimson, blindfolded, will pick the first number out of the same big glass bowl that was used in the 1917 draft.

Plans for the draft drawing, which will be surrounded by patriotic ceremony and color, were completed at a conference between President Roosevelt and Selective Service Director Dykstra.

Originally, Director Dykstra said that the President would select the first number, but the latter turned the task over to Secretary of War Stimson. The President, however, will be present at the drawing, along with military and civic notables.

From federal authorities meanwhile came the intimation that additional indictments against Ray Stowers who refused to register might be sought when the federal grand jury convenes tomorrow.

Complicating the situation somewhat, however, was the word from national selective service headquarters that delinquents will be given until Monday to register and thus escape the possible penalties.

Here is a list of 49 newly organized headquarters of local draft boards with which registrants must keep in communication:

BULL CAN'T DO THIS AND LIVE

Archibald MacDonald, special agent of the Animal Rescue League, went to Brighton today to see a man about a horse but he met up with a bull—and how!

By the time introductions were over MacDonald nursed bumps on front and rear, had to send his new sedan to the repair shop after the 850-pound animal mashed its front. MacDonald never did get to see the sick horse.

Furthermore, the bull warmed up and led 20 policemen a merry chase from the Brighton abattoir to Watertown sq., through heavy traffic and around a monument.

He was cornered and shot by Officer Joseph Lentini of the metropolitan district police an hour later.

MacDonald's official mission to the abattoir was to investigate an aged horse. On the way in he met the bull, which knocked him flat. Bleeding from a head wound, MacDonald nevertheless jumped into his sedan and gave chase down North Beacon st. At North Beacon st. and Mountain ave., Brighton, the bull reversed his field and charged.

MacDonald said he would visit the horse later.

DEVER, GOVERNOR IN WAR OF WORDS

Atty.-Gen. Paul A. Dever today spurred his campaign for the governorship with the charge that boasted Republican economies had been invoked "heartlessly and ruthlessly."

At the same time, Gov. Saltonstall linked Atty.-Gen. Dever with the Democratic administrations which had been in control of State politics from 1932 to 1938.

Speaking at rallies in western Massachusetts, Dever declared:

"The Republican leadership has boasted it has achieved a financial surplus at Tewksbury Infirmary during the past year. This leadership has failed to explain, however, that this surplus was obtained at the expense of the living conditions of poor and destitute inmates."

GOVERNOR REPLIES

Dever further said that the Republican leadership had demanded reduction in expenditures for food alone of approximately $30,000.

In rebuttal, Gov. Saltonstall declared at rallies in Franklin, Milford and Whitinsville that in 1938 he had promised to give the commonwealth the most honest government in place of "waste, extravagance and inefficiency."

This, he said, he had done and was prepared to continue if re-elected next month.

PLAN MASS BROADSIDE

Meanwhile, Massachusetts Republicans completed plans for a mass broadside against the New Deal on Lexington battle green for tomorrow afternoon.

Citizens of every Middlesex city and town are to attend a "No Third Term Rally," which is to be broadcast to the nation.

The President's cause was taken up in Boston by his youngest son, John, and Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr., in a joint radio broadcast. Both appealed to young Democrats in declaring that the youth of America would have its greatest chance under the New Deal.

Times Denies Flynn's Charge

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (AP)—Arthur Hays Sulzberger, publisher of the New York Times, says financial pressure did not influence the paper's position in the 1936 presidential campaign, nor does it this year, in reply to a statement by Democratic National Chairman Edward J. Flynn that "financial interests attempt to influence the news columns of a great newspaper."

The Times supported President Roosevelt for reelection in 1936 and this year favors the candidacy of Wendell Willkie.

Flynn's prepared statement was in support of an earlier assertion that the nation's press was "under a dictatorship of financial interests of advertisers."

He quoted from a speech Sulzberger made before the Columbia Alumni Association in January, 1937, in which the publisher said:

"The New York Times has had less a large amount of advertising, and we wish we had it because of its support of President Roosevelt during the 1936 campaign."

German Ship T-oll In Week 62,265 Tons

LONDON, Oct. 22 (AP)—British, allied and neutral merchant shipping losses for the week ended Oct. 14 totaled 62,265 tons, compared with Germany's claim to have sunk 122,041 tons, the admiralty said today.

Losses listed by the admiralty for that week were British, seven ships, 32,370 tons; allied, three ships, 17,537 tons, and neutral, three ships, 12,358 tons.

Boston Auto Show Observes Tobin Day

The 1941 Boston automobile show celebrated Mayor's Day today, with throngs visiting showrooms throughout the Metropolitan area.

Automobile row on Commonwealth ave. played host to Mayor Tobin in accordance with the tradition that always designates Tuesday of the annual show as the day of the city's chief executive.

From now through Saturday night, show rooms will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. so that the public may view the more luxurious models and engineering refinements which increase the output of the power plants while decreasing fuel consumption.

In officially recognizing the day Mayor Tobin said:

"Whereas, the Boston Automobile Dealers' Association in sponsoring its 40th annual automobile show which is being held in the showrooms of its members and those of the Metropolitan Boston dealers to introduce the new 1941 models, and

"Whereas, the motor industry with its immense production facilities through the activities of its dealer organization in merchandising the 1941 product, will aid in the success of the national defense program, and,

RESOLVES TO SUPPORT

"Whereas, the Boston Automobile Dealers' Association Show Week will receive enthusiastic cooperation of public officials, business and labor interests in this campaign, and,

"Whereas, during this period an important contribution to motorizing safety in Metropolitan Boston will be made through the sales of new and used cars.

"Therefore I have hereby proclaimed the week of Oct. 19 to 26 Automobile Show Week, and urge all citizens to cooperate in insuring its success. Witness my hand and seal.

MATTHIAS J. TOBIN, Mayor.

Para-Fenway Offers New Lamour

Dorothy's Hair Cut; No Sarong

"Moon Over Burma," Paramount's new comedy-romance, brings to the Paramount and Fenway screens on Thursday the co-starring Preston Foster, Robert Preston and the girl who made the strong famous, Dorothy Lamour.

The jungle charmer has a couple of surprises in store for her fans. She positively does not wear a sarong or any variation of it and she's cut that long, lustrous, black hair.

This amazing transformation came as a result of a tiff she had with the studio. For some time she had been insisting to executives that she was fed up with the sarong and wanted to cut her hair. When she was given her role in "Moon Over Burma," that of a gal singer with a ready answer, she countered that she couldn't play the role with a long-haired coiffure—it wasn't modern enough. After many conferences, the studio officials decided that she could cut her hair, if she would agree to perform in the sarong when asked to do so.

The second feature, "World In Flames," is a timely cavalcade of the dictators' rise to world domination and the world reuniting for a second World War. More than a hundred cameramen worked 11 years in all parts of the world to gather film for this Paramount picture.

BOTH LOVE HER—Robert Preston, left, and Preston Foster eagerly await Dorothy Lamour's decision in "Moon Over Burma," coming to the Paramount and Fenway screens on Thursday. For her role in this film Dorothy had her tresses clipped, and here's another surprise for Lamour fans—Dot passed up her sarong for more conventional dress.

Producer Sees 'Father' Cast

Oscar Serlin, producer of "Life with Father," paid his first visit in two weeks to Dorothy Gish, Louis Calhern, and the other members of the Boston edition of this most popular of comedies last evening, and sent them off on the fourth big week of their local engagement at the Civic Repertory Theatre.

Being the sort of producer who personally supervises all details of his enterprises, Mr. Serlin spent busy hours checking on innovations instituted by him at the Civic Repertory, seeing that the coffee served at intermissions was tastefully prepared and served, and that the non-tipping coat-checking service are operating.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

THE COMBINATION of Helen Hayes and Maurice Evans on one side of the footlights and a brilliant social audience on the other, made a memorable occasion of the Theater Guild's opening production of the season last evening . . . The play, Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" gives the diminutive Miss Hayes her realization of a life long ambition to play a Shakespearian role . . . and cast as the piquant Viola she completely captivated the large and enthusiastic audience . . .

Early arrivals at the Colonial included Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Morris of Milton, Mrs. Max Talbot of Brookline with her tall blonde daughter, Kitty; Colonel and Mrs. Walter M. Pratt and Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. P. Kennard . . .

Mrs. Talbot brightened her black dinner gown with gold costume jewelry and Kitty accented her platinum hair with a sparkling gown of blue and silver lame . . . Mrs. Pratt wore orchids on the lapel of her tailored gold lame dinner coat and Mrs. Kennard's pale gray dress was embroidered with a design in gold . . .

Dr. and Mrs. Joel Goldthwaite were among the regular Theater Guild first nighters as were Mr. and Mrs. Delcivere King, Mr. and Mrs. William Dana Orcutt, Lavinia Sabine whose sapphire blue dinner gown was adorned with orchids and a sable scarf, Rebekah Hobbs in a vivid crimson velvet wrap, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Bradlee French, Mr. and Mrs. Marland Hobbs and Mrs. David Evans accompanied by her daughter, Lydia . . .

Two Weddings in Family

WITH HER SON and daughter both being married in the same week, Mrs. Rolin M. Gallagher, of Milton is having a busy time helping to unwrap wedding presents, acknowledge telegrams and attend to all the many happy details which surround a wedding . . .

Her daughter Anne Reed Gallagher, becomes the bride of Hugh Theodore Putnam of Dedham, at a fashionable ceremony in the First Parish Church, Milton, this afternoon . . . and on Saturday Rolin M. Gallagher, Jr., bestows his heart and hand on Anne Burnett, of Manchester-by-the-Sea, at an equally fashionable North Shore wedding . . .

Today's bride, a member of the Junior League and Vincent Club, is wearing a gown of ivory satin trimmed with old family lace, and her tulle veil falls from a lace coronet . . . She is carrying lilies of the valley . . .

Bridesmaids Wear Rose Faillé

WINE VELVETEEN gowns with coronets of wine ostrich feathers in their hair, fashion the costumes of the honor attendants, Mrs. John Wood Blodgett of Portland, Oregon, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Joseph Frothingham of Milton, the former Janet Forbes . . .

The bridesmaids whose gowns are of rose faillé trimmed with wine velveteen, are Anne Burnett, Cora Peabody of Milton, Margaret Sperry of Washington, Sylvia Crammer of Denver, Mrs. Edward Love of St. Louis and Shella Delano Redman of New York . . .

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Putnam of Dedham, is having his best man, the Rev. Timothy, as best man and the usher staff includes the Messrs. John W. Blodgett, Jr., Elliott Putnam, Jr., John Pierce, Jr., George Hill and Albert Nickerson . . .

The reception is taking place at Mrs. Gallagher's home on Canton ave., Milton. Following their wedding trip, Mr. Putnam and his bride will make their home in Milton.

Miss Bogart Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Bogart, of Brockton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Abendroth Bogart, to Albert Moore Nutter, son of Mrs. Richard Winslow Nutter and the late Mr. Nutter, also of Brockton.

The future bride was graduated from Northfield Seminary in 1935. Mr. Nutter, a graduate of Phillips Exeter Academy, Harvard class of 1932 and Harvard School of Business Administration, is associated with his uncle, Charles L. Nutter, in the operation of the Old Colony Foundry Co., East Bridgewater.

Players Plan Luncheon

Meeting for their first luncheon of the season tomorrow, members of the Junior League Players will hear an address on the summer theater by Miss Phyllis Stohi of the Erskine School.

Among the League's talented young amateur actresses planning to attend are Martha Pervere, Katharine C. Gray, Patricia Wadlington, Mrs. N. Thomas Ballentine, Jr., Helen Mason, Mrs. Stearns Poor, Henrietta Sharon, Mrs. Edward L. Bond, Elise Cunningham, Ellen Bottomley, Mary Frances Falvey, Mrs. Henry McBurney Parker, Mrs. Charles R. Morris, Mrs. G. Campbell Patterson and Mrs. A. Howard Abell.

The league's orchestra is holding its first rehearsal this afternoon under the direction of Peggy Stuart, conductor, Mrs. Alan McClennen is secretary, Amelia Payne, manager and librarian and Mary Driver, concert mistress.

RUTH ANN KINCADE WEDS IN NEW YORK

Miss Ruth Ann Kincaide, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kincaide of Boston, became the bride of Harold R. Serkewich, of New York, in Grace Episcopal Church, New York City, on Saturday. The bride had as her only attendant, Mrs. Paul Stocker of New York, and Robert K. Christenberry was best man.

Listen, World!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

"A MILLION Fifth Columnists—foreign shadow soldiers—are actually at war with the United States now, on our own soil! They are here inciting treason against the Government for the benefit of their European masters. Our industries, our defenses, our homes, are being spied on daily."

"These traitors claim allegiance to our form of government only to engage furtively in destroying it. They are more vicious than parachute troops because they cannot be identified quickly and destroyed. They are boring—steadily and surely—within the life of our country."

THESE statements are in that amazing and most desperately needed expose, "The Fifth Column is Here," by George Britt.

DON'T SAY, "It's just one of those faked-up war scares." Poland said that . . . Czechoslovakia, Holland, Norway, Austria, Belgium and France said that. . . And England, for the greater part, believed it. Look at them now!

But whatever their stupidity, these tragic nations never made the mistake which America is making today. They never allowed hostile elements to set up patriotic associations and camps within their actual territory . . . to teach their principles to their own children in "vacation camps" . . . publicly to drill and to work in factories, shipyards and airports.

Listen to what Mr. Britt says: "Two days after Hitler's parachutists, tanks, dive bombers and advance traitors without warning had smashed into Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg, 12,000 persons stood reverently in a municipal sports stadium and gave the stiff-arm salute of Nazism as the swastika flag was carried past. The American flag was carried too, side by side with the swastika, flags intermingling in the breeze. But it was the swastika that was heeded and stiff-armed."

This demonstration happened near New York City in this year, 1940.

These are only two instances from a book which should shake every home in America. And what are we doing about it? We are talking. We are saying, "Ain't it awful!" Presently, unless all signs fail, we won't dare say even that. For we'll be behind the barred wire of concentration camps—and why not?

WE'RE ASKING FOR IT!

Canned Peas Big Help

By MARTHA LEE

A celebration is now under way known as the "Canned Pea Carnival"—to extend from Oct. 21 to Nov. 15.

Because canned peas are so tender, delicate and choicest of flavor, they make an especially good ingredient in many recipes, or an appropriate side dish to accompany main dishes.

In ordering canned peas from the grocer, remember that two sorts of peas are put up by commercial canners. The early pea which is smooth and round with a nut-like flavor is known to the consumer as the Early Variety Pea. The sweet pea, which is irregular in shape, wrinkled, with a flavor very much like fresh peas, is known as the Sweet Variety Pea.

In the commercial canning there are usually not more than two hours between the time the peas leave the field until it is in the can. This means a saving of flavor and a quality in the product not possible to duplicate in fresh peas caught in the market and cooked at home.

2 1/2 tbs. quick-cooking tapioca
1 cup canned peas

Brown meat and onion in butter; add water, cover and simmer about 1 1/2 hours, or until nearly done. Add carrots and seasonings and continue cooking 15 minutes, or until carrots are tender; then add tapioca and peas and bring to a brisk boil, stirring constantly. Drop dumpling mixture from teaspoon on boiling stew; cover very tightly and cook without removing cover 5 to 7 minutes, according to size of dumplings. Makes 8 servings.

DUMPLINGS

1 cup sifted flour
1/2 tsp. double-acting baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. melted butter
1/2 cup milk

For dumplings, sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift again. Add butter to milk, add to flour and stir carefully until flour is dampened and soft dough is formed.

JELLIED CARROTS AND PEAS

1 pkg. lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1/2 cup vegetable stock or water
3 tbs. vinegar
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. paprika
1 cup cooked diced carrots
1 cup cooked canned peas
Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add vegetable stock, vinegar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, and paprika. Chill until slightly thickened. Season carrots and peas with 1/2 teaspoon salt. Fold into slightly thickened gelatin. Turn into individual molds. Chill until firm. unmold on crisp lettuce. Garnish with mayonnaise. Makes eight servings.

You Can Be Beautiful

Abounds in Real Magic

By ARLINE GOULD

LATE HOURS... and who doesn't keep them these exciting days... have a way of making even the loveliest complexion dull... even the most youthful face, appears just a wee bit haggard and drawn.

But, no matter how late you've been greeting your downy couch we think we have the answer... an answer that took four long years for cosmetic experts to discover with test tubes in shining laboratories... in a word, a really perfect foundation lotion.

A primary attribute lies in the simplicity of its use... many makeup bases take a lot of expert brush before they go on well, and take the powder and rouge smoothly and evenly... but not this gem of cosmetic art!

Real magic is in the cylindrical bottle... for as soon as gentle fingertips blend the lotion over the skin... all these annoying superficial blemishes... those light, etched, threatening fine-lines that blur very youthful beauty all too often... simply disappear in thin air... and your tired face seems again that of the sweet young thing who stepped up to receive her high school diploma.

This foundation lotion really lives up to its name, too... it erases makeup for hours... and hours... keeping you looking as though you had just risen from your mother's dressing table.

You'll find the solution to your cosmetic problems in this pink-topped glass cylinder... for the lotion is equally adaptable... to a normal or to a dry skin... and its three shades suit it to any complexion... from Nordic beauty to Spanish... the color range is just what the labels describe... tints of rose cream... dark cream... and peach.

Minor miracle for tired faces is this foundation lotion... you may discover where to buy it by telephoning Arline Gould, L1 Betty 4000, or by writing in care of the American, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Pattern 3505 may be ordered only in this size 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14. Size 12, long sleeve dress requires 2 1/2 yards 39-inch fabric. To get this pattern send 15c to Pattern Department, 232 West 14th St., New York, N. Y. Ten cents additional will bring you our newest pattern book.

 of Mass. Ave., Cambridge who received a check for $25.00.
 Send in your solution to Boston
 Editor, P. O. Box 2337, It may win you $25.00 too.

The idea of the Record-American Game of Check is simple. You look at an illustrated question and see if you can recognize the correct answer, which in each case, appears among the suggested answers beneath it.

And it's as easy to enter and be up-to-date with the contest as though you had started on the very first day. Below, appear the first two Check Sheets of the Second Week's Series . . . together with a COUPON WHICH BRINGS YOU THE ENTIRE FIRST WEEK'S SERIES FREE! MAIL THE COUPON NOW!

Meanwhile, check the right answers to the cartoon questions in Check Sheets Nos. 7 and 8 at the left.

Clip and save these two Check Sheets, and then get Check Sheets 9, 10, 11 and 12 during the remaining days of this week. Check Sheets 7-12 comprise your Second Series.

When you have received Check Sheets 1-6 in response to mailing the coupon below, CHECK the correct answers to those Sheets and send them in promptly and you will be officially entered.

Each week's series should be submitted within the week following publication and must be accompanied by 10 cents in coin. You will receive a fascinating Quiz Booklet at the conclusion of the contest.

THE RULES

1. The Boston Record-American GAME OF CHECK is open to all persons living in the New England States. However, no employees of the Boston Record, the Boston American or Sunday Advertiser, members of their families, nor any newspaper dealers and carriers who deliver the Boston Record, the Boston American or Sunday Advertiser, nor any person acting as a proxy for another, nor any person who has won $500 or more in any contest may win a prize.
2. Beginning Monday, October 14, 1940, a Check Sheet will be published each week in the Boston American and the Boston Record. Each Check Sheet will contain three cartoon questions. Four and only four suggested answers will be printed under each cartoon question used in the daily Check Sheet. One and only one of these suggested answers is the correct answer to the question appearing above. The six Check Sheets published during each week will constitute a series. There will be fifteen series. Answers to each week's series of cartoon questions should be brought or mailed to the Contest Editor, P. O. Box 2337, c/o the Boston Record-American Game of Check. Answers for each week's series should be submitted within the week after that series appears in the Boston Record and the Boston American.
3. One hundred prizes will be awarded by the Boston Record-American in accordance with the published schedule of prizes. In these 100 contestants who, by their answers, achieve the 100 highest scores. A Check Sheet will not be judged as a unit—each and every question will be judged separately. Thus a contestant will get credit for each question correctly answered. No contestant may win more than one prize. Re-entry does not count. Do not decorate your answers.
4. In case two or more contestants are tied for a certain prize, just what particular prize each contestant may be entitled to will be determined by submitting to each tied contestant a set of tie-breaking questions, and, if necessary, a second, third or fourth set of tie-breaking questions. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of the highest scores achieved by contestants in accordance with the instructions and scoring regulations governing the selection of such tie-breaking questions. At the discretion of the Boston Record and the Boston American, tied contestants may be required to work the tie-breaking questions without assistance in the offices of the Boston Record or the Boston American. In case of final tie duplicate prizes will be awarded.
5. In order to qualify for a prize contestants are required to accompany each weekly series of Check Sheets with a remittance of 10c in coin. An individual file will be set up for each qualified contestant and each weekly set of answers duly filed therein. After the contest closes, each individual file will be duly judged. In those contestants who complete the 15 weekly series of Check Sheets and who in all other ways conform to the rules of the contest the Boston Record-American will present a special quiz booklet created by Harold Hart, author of the famous quiz volume "Invitation to Fun."
6. Any person by entering this contest understands it is a contest of individual effort and agrees to abide by and accept as final the decision of the Boston Record-American as all matters affecting this contest, including among others, the qualification of contestants, their disqualification at any time before or after January 27th, the closing date, for any cause deemed necessary, the application of the rules, the establishment of time limitations, the judging of answers, the scoring of answers and the interpretation of such instructions governing individual questions as may be amended by the officials of the contest. By entering this contest participants agree that their answers become the property of the Boston Record-American and will not be returned.
7. Entries that are not signed by name will not be considered eligible for prizes nor will any claim to the ownership of such entries be recognized. Entries which are illegible will not be considered. Not more than one prize will be awarded to members of any one immediate family. The Boston Record-American will not be responsible for entries or communications lost or unduly delayed either from the contestant to the Boston Record-American Contest Editor or from the Boston Record-American to the contestant.

AUSTEN LAKE

Sugar Bowl Daddies Appeal To B. C.'s Sweet Tooth

DON'T LOOK NOW, BUT DOWN New Orleans way where the gulf breezes kiss the creoles and the mocking bird is warbling in the amphipala trees, Suth'n folks is fixing for their annual sugar-bush festival of which the North-South football game is the centerpiece. It's still nine weeks away but the bowl-boosters are taking forehanded options on every college varsity which might win regional honors—teams like Boston College, Fordham, Georgetown, Penn and Columbia, to mention the immediate mighty who have not yet sipped of the hemlock cup.

AUSTEN LAKE

Being proud people the Sugar Bowl daddies aren't hauling off and inviting just any Yankee team. As yet they have limited their overtures to a suggestive waggle of the eyebrows and a coy come-hither look, asking some of the teams whether they would incline an ear, if indeed they have any ears left by Dec. 1. B. C.'s John Curley was given a little auditory oil last month when his big Behemoth busted Tulane's Colossus. Mr. Duke Riley, the committee's press-petter, asked John, please, to circle the red-letter day on his calendar, just in case B. C. didn't suffer any bumps, contusions and smears on the road to Nov. 30. To which Curley answered "Mmmmmmm," knowing that before the reverend elders of the hilltop college could weigh the question of whether 10 games is enough football for one dose or whether another Pullman tour to N'Aw'lins offers educational compensation for letting their lads miss a few classes, B. C. has to jump over Georgetown and hurdle Holy Cross.

As for the other pro-tempore Bowl candidates, if Penn isn't licked Saturday by Michigan, it may be by Cornell on Thanksgiving Day. Columbia hardly hopes to escape one or more thumpings in the agenda which includes Cornell, Wisconsin, Navy, Colgate and Brown. But Fordham looks likely against St. Mary's, North Carolina, Purdue, Arkansas and N. Y. U. B. C. is no worse than "evens."

Harlow's Bird-Perch

FOR THE SECOND TIME IN HIS quarter-century coaching career, Harvard's Dick Harlow finds himself coaching from a high chair. Handicapped by a busted fibula, Harlow props himself on a kind of elongated bird perch behind his teams, detailing a student manager to shift the squad from spot to spot and be ready to insert it under his stein at the exact instant he sits down. Great dread of the Harvard squad is that Richard may sometime sit down before his chair-caddy has arranged the pedestal at the proper angle to receive his fundament.

In 1932, while Harlow was at Western Maryland he had some of his abdominal jiblets cut out and, when September came, was still wearing lengths of sanitary tubing and surgical stitches in his middle. So he invented a kind of portable throne where he sat like an East Indian Mahatma, giving his lessons through a megaphone. "Don't move," his physician had warned, "if you lean out those stitches you're a gone-goose." Yet the dreadful thing happened! In a spasm of exasperation, Dick hopped off his scaffold and was demonstrating a four-point block when a beefy kid named John O'Leary (a lad of Russian extraction, if you can figure it out) swiped him an inadvertent, but goshalightly wallop, and ripped Dick's needlework loose. Dick said his only thought while a surgeon was rearranging his embroidery was a triumphant, "Well, I'm still alive!"

Incidentally, the final quietest on all Harlow-to-resign whispers, he has a long term contract to coach Harvard, signed last December.

How Penn Did it

ONE OF PHILADELPHIA'S COGNOSCENTI who was at the Yale-Barnmouth game, related how it is that Penn, after many mediocre years, should coincide a football juggernaut with its Centennial celebration. As a special concession to its 100th birth period, Yale, Princeton, Harvard, Navy, Army and Cornell agreed to visit Franklin Field.

Penn, forchance, got ready! Three years ago its potent alumni horde, than which there is no more loyal and aggressive group extant, arranged for a freshman delegation with the proper wind, limb, bone and muscle. Once inducted the alumni then safeguarded the boys from flunking out or dropping below the college standard. A corps of tutors were assigned to see that each maintained the required level of scholarship, keeping close tabs on the monthly reports and, where necessary, hosing knowledge into the boys like a veterinary administrator a horse drench. No football squad was ever so carefully chaperoned.

Result, in this, the Carnival year Penn came to the football wars with full strength and began celebrating its 100th year by pulverizing its Ivy guests.

HEARD AT BOSTON'S WEEKLY football luncheon: One of the Carolina college contacts with a husky kid to matriculate last September, telling his male parent, "You sign this voucher for his $300 tuition, as a matter of form. You won't have to pay it." Later an influential alumnus of another Southern institution offered the kid better terms, viz., free tuition, board, room and fun-money. The kid accepted and moved his goods and chattels. Whereupon the party of the first part sent an envoy who upped the original offer. The kid moved back again, but neglected to take his trunk. Now, after repeated requests, the college of the second part refuses to ship the boy's garments, holding them as forfeit for what it considers "breach of faith." The lad's Carolina schoolmates have been lending him togs and haberdashery. (Ed. note—Names and particulars upon request). Which recalls the answer made recently by Mal Stevens of NYU when asked, "What d'yuh have to have to be a good pass receiver?" Said Mal candidly, "Room, tuition and laundry."

ST. ANSELM'S LINE OFFERS WORTHY TEST FOR EAGLES

By FRANK FENWAY

At the risk, mes amis, of being rewarded with a pair on the 50-yard line by a grateful Boston College A. A., yours truly would like to 'umbly suggest that you may' quite likely see a pretty fair country football game out at the Heights, come Saturday.

Not, of course, a spine tingling killer-diller, with Boston College having to rise to spectacular heights to nose out a decision, but a good rugged contest far removed from last week-end's sorry spectacle.

You can bet your hat, and it looks like a cold winter, that the Eagles, great as they are, won't have to resort to such daffy tactics as kicking on second down to keep the score within the limit of reason this week.

It's an even better bet that they will have to battle a goodly portion of the afternoon before this football club of Cleo O'Donnell's cries "Uncle."

GREAT SAINTS LINE

The Manchester collegians haven't an impressive record, the Hawks having thrice taken a ten count, but they are big, they're tough, they're well coached and three or four of them would fit nicely into anybody's idea of a ball club.

What has ticked St. Anselm's thus far has been the lack of a varied offense. They've only one back who can completely capably against tough competition, he's Boule, and as a result haven't been registering those touchdowns.

But their linemen have yet to doff their helmets to a superior group this season and every club the Hawks have taken on has felt itself lucky to gain a yard.

The very nature of the Boston College offense makes the task of polishing off St. Anselm's decisively a tough one for the Eagles.

O'Rourke being the spearhead of the attack, the majority of their running plays go to the left during a routine attack.

Well, it so happens that the right side of the Hawk's line is dynamite; particularly at the all-important tackle spot.

Cleo has a rangy 260 pounder named Surrette playing right tackle and he's a positive WOW. We chanced to witness this feat in action against Scranton, nobody's setup, and venture a guess that the B. C. boys will give him the nod as the best lineman they've seen this season.

BOULE TRIPLE THREAT

He charges hard and fast, uses his hands like Billy Conn, and has an uncanny sense of play diagnosis. Remember Surrette, you'll like him.

Almost his equal defensively, is a short, wide young man, playing the guard spot next to him, named Fiechette. He was making tackles all over the field against the Pennsylvania coal miners and bids fair to have a few of Leary's backs wishing he'd cut it out before the game is over.

Boule, the captain of the O'Donnell's, is a really good triple-threat man and will be dangerous. A fine punner, he has been handicapped so far this season by a lack of capable receivers.

Boston College, of course, is not going to spend the afternoon running into the outstretched arms of the Messrs. Surrette and Fiechette.

The Eagles have a varied and deceptive offense they have yet to show, simply because they haven't had to do so.

If that rugged St. Anselm's line knocks over the routine Eagle running attack Leary may instruct his quarterback to open up a bit, if only to try to outfox the offense against talented opposition.

De Correvont Lost To Northwestern For Indiana Clash

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 22 (INS)—A stiff jolt was dealt the high blown title hopes of Northwestern University's football team when Trainer Carl Erickson announced Bill De Correvont definitely will be unable to play against Indiana Saturday.

De Correvont suffered a sprained ankle in the fourth quarter of the Wisconsin game Saturday, but at first it was thought to be a minor injury. It is still expected that De Correvont will miss only this one game because of the injury.

STUDENT, TOO — Charley O'Rourke, great Boston College back, spends a bit of spare time keeping his marks high. Grid "A's" are easy for O'Rourke, who may win "All" rank.

Movies Show Illegal Pass Won for Lions

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 22 (AP)—Carnegie Trust Building of the University of Georgia athletic department said today, motion pictures of Georgia's football team's winning touchdown was scored on an illegal forward pass.

Georgia lost 13-19. The Bulldogs were leading 13-12 in the fourth period when Columbia's fullback tossed the ball to a halfback after a five-yard gain through the line.

It was ruled a lateral, Erlingson said, but the motion pictures showed the ball actually travelled several yards forward. Officials did not run the play through the line.

Coach Wallace Butts declared comment except to say the game was over. Georgia had lost and the incident was closed. None of the Georgia coaches challenged the ruling of the officials after the game.

MILWAUKEE NEXT FOE FOR BEARS

After a well deserved day of rest, Boston's high flying Bears settled down to work today in preparation for their coming clash with the Milwaukee Chiefs at Fenway Park Sunday.

The Chiefs, despite their setback in New York last Sunday, figure to be tough, for a loss will virtually eliminate them from the American League race.

Right at present the Bears are deadlocked with the Columbus Bulls in first place, each boasting of four victories and one defeat. Milwaukee is in third place with three wins and two losses. A victory for the invaders would bring them up even with the Bears and if Columbus should also lose, a three-way tie for the top would be the windup Sunday night.

But the Chiefs will really have to put on an inspired effort to handle the Bears for the Casey men have now won four in a row and seem to be unbeatable. Eddie Casey has one of the finest passers in the country in Andy Kaupas and some great receivers in Vito Ananias, Job Yablonaki, Keith Ranspot and Les Lane.

Then, too, no passing offense will go unless there is a running threat, and if the opposition ever drifts to protect against passers, Morris Kohler, one of the fastest hitting backs this town has seen for a long time, will have a field day slicing off tackle and on cutbacks through the middle.

The Bears will be at full strength for this game and that means trouble for Milwaukee.

Husky Realizes Grid Ambition

Ronnie Tubbs, smoothly built senior from Hartford, Ct., realized a three-year ambition last Saturday when he scored a Northeastern touchdown against Bates. It was his first touchdown in three years of varsity football at Northeastern.

As a sophomore and junior, Tubbs was a blocking back and a line backer. He carried the ball, Ronnie tried to intercept a pass, but he fumbled in the end zone and he went scoreless for two seasons.

This year he was switched to fullback, where he has been one of the real surprises of the season. His sensational spinning has been a major factor in the Husky running attack and his faking has been magnificent.

Tubbs and Ed Barry, both have been trying to score a touchdown this year and have some question as to which should carry the ball on the scoring play last Saturday. Now that Tubbs has achieved his ambition, Barry has three more games in which to break into the scoring column.

The Huskies will concentrate on their forward pass attack this week, so it's possible that both Tubbs and Barry will score on the receiving end of passes.

Southie Meets Last 'Breather,' Faces 4 Tough Foes in Stretch

By SAM BROGNA

After tomorrow's game with Charlestown which should wind up something like their first three tilts, Steve White's high scoring South Boston gridmen will be in for sterner competition down through the stretch.

Following the Bunker Hill meeting, Hyde Park, Brighton, Trade and finally East Boston follow in that order. Although the Parkians, a fair countryside ball club already having been taken into camp by Brighton by a lone touchdown only after a grueling battle, are not as potent as they were expected to be before the curtain rises, they will give the powerful Southie outfit its first real going over this year.

Coach Billy Murphy's Brighton representatives, defending district champions, may have thought they were given a thorough going over by East Boston forced to come from behind twice before finally winning by a field goal within the first minute of play but just wait until they tangle with Capt. Harry "Hurricane" McDonough and the rest of the Peninsular pigskinners two weeks from now.

Not only will Southie be out to knock the big Orange and Black from the undefeated class but also to settle last year's affair which, Brighton won, 13 to 0.

Trade replaced Mechanic Arts on this year's schedule. Although Coach Tilden's Mechanics broke even in two games played in Hub circles, they expect to be rolling in high gear for the Southie game which is still three weeks away.

Last but by no means least, come the Noddie Islanders. No further waxes have to be written about this battle. No matter how strong or weak these teams are, this is "the" game.

Southie and Weymouth are deadlocked for second place in the scoring column. Both schools have registered a total of 101 points. But, Weymouth has played five games and the Bostonians but three. After the Charlestown conflict tomorrow, they are expected to surpass Dedham's high of 133 rung up over a stretch of five games also. In order to do this, "Skipper" and his crew will have to score at least 30 points on the Monument athletes. This shouldn't be too difficult since Rosindale, drubbed by S. B. 39 to 0, tallied three against Charlestown. If Coach Fred Murray's boys can do it, why can't Steve White's?

The other half of Wednesday's twin bill has Jamaica Plain and Commerce, both losers of their first three games, meeting each other in

LITTLE THREE SERIES OPENS

WESLEYAN, Ct., Oct. 22—Hoping to erase a most disappointing season, Wesleyan settled down to real work today preparing for its all important clash with Amherst Saturday—the first game in the Cardinals' title defense of their Little Three title.

Wesleyan had high hopes of a great season but the Connecticut eleven got away to a bad start and fell before Brown, 41 to 0. They just haven't seemed to recover from that setback and have since been defeated by Connecticut University and Bowdoin. Last Saturday the Cardinals came through with their first win of the year at the expense of Haverford and hope that they are now straightened away.

Amherst, on the other hand, was expected to show little this fall and Lloyd Jordan has come up with a surprisingly good team. The Lord Jeffs have been beaten only once and that defeat was at the hands of Harvard by two touchdowns.

Jordan has two sweet backs in Mulroy and Blood—the "sack" runners who are apt to break up a ball game at any time. In fact, Amherst has come along so rapidly that it would not be surprising to see the Lord Jeffs enter the fray as favorites.

Hatlo TWO STARS UNCOVERED IN B.U. WIN

Rewards for outstanding play have been given to a pair of Boston University gridmen graduating them to starting roles for their outstanding performances against the University of Cincinnati last Saturday.

Frankie Provinzano, who had been staging a three-cornered fight for the left halfback spot with Jim Cassidy and Charlie Thomas, has taken complete possession of the berth. The other promotion goes to Bobby Brown, a willing veteran who stepped into a new job at left guard and turned in quite a ball game once he settled down and got into the swing of things.

The promotion of Provinzano is really deserving. This former Winchester high school great who is only six feet six inches tall really can scamper and he also does a pretty fair job of passing and kicking.

With Al Clark and Jim Sullivan regular right halfbacks, both out with broken collars, Coach Pat Hanley and Alden Burnell as the only available veteran for the spot. Burnell can always be depended to turn in a steady workmanlike job and is seldom fooled.

But further aid was needed and Coach Pat Hanley shifted Provinzano to right halfback which is quite different for it meant that most of his running is to be to his left instead of to the right.

Nobody knew how well Frankie would go. He got his chance against Cincinnati and was as outstanding that it's hard to see how anybody is going to take that job away from him.

Cleveland Cuts 3 Players Adrift

CLEVELAND, Oct. 22 (AP)—Earl (Dutch) Clark, Cleveland Rams' center, continued to shake up his National Professional Football League squad by releasing three players who had seen little action this season.

Clark released Ken Heinemann, 17-pound halfback, who once played with Texas Mines; Earl Crowder, 196-pound quarterback from Oklahoma U.; and Harry McArthur, 194-pound end, formerly with Mississippi U.

The Rams last night added to their roster Connie Mack Berry, former North Carolina State end, obtained from the New York Americans of the American pro football loop.

40 Sutherland Claims Chicago Bears Best Team in History

EVENING AMERICAN, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1940

Dr. Jock Sutherland calls the Chicago Bears the greatest aggregation of football players he ever saw—three deep in every position and every guy as good as the other.

Latest reports have good old Bing Crosby dickering for the Boston Bees. . . . Buffalo is the place where Jack Dempsey really got his start—by knocking out Oklahoma's Carl Morris in one heat, just two years before he beat Willard for the title.

Michigan will be interested to learn that Bo McMillin comes right out and picks Minnesota to win the Big Ten title.

We haven't bumped into Joe McCarthy yet, but his neighbors say he looks surprisingly well for a chap who went through what he did. Joe is having a good time pheasant hunting.

John P. Carmichael, Chicago Daily News: "Billy Sullivan, Detroit catcher, has solved next year's infield problem. . . . Regarding Dick Bartell, Pinky Higgins and Charlie Gehringer, Sullivan says: 'Owner Briggs builds bodies.' He can fit up the three of them O. K."

Davey O'Brien of the Philly Eagles and Marshal Goldberg of the Chicago Cardinals are believed to be the highest paid players in the National Football League.

When the Idaho footballers came east to take a 60-0 drubbing from Boston College, they brought along half a carload of the spuds for which the state is famous to hand out along the route.

Latest on Jack Kearns is (A) he is trying to hook Dempsey and Baer for an exhibition bout and (B) he is looking for an angel in Los Angeles. . . . The academics are being blamed for loss of football talent at U. of Wisconsin.

The president of Loyola (New Orleans) said the other day the enrollment there is as large as ever, even if the school has dropped football completely. . . . on the other side, Colorado School of Mines, which last year had one of football's highest scoring teams, has the largest enrollment in history. . . . you pay your money, and you take your choice.

If anybody didn't have a good time at the Buffalo Athletic Club's annual party last night, it was his own fault. . . . A gent named Seymour Knox, internationally known polo player, was M. C. and he was absolute tops. . . . Doc Sutherland and Tommy Richardson, the silver-tongued president of the Eastern League, were among the orators. . . . Empire Bill Stewart, Willing Patterson, the squash champ; Footballer Ace Parker; Golf Champ Dick Chapman; Willie Hoppe; Floyd Giebell, the Detroit pitcher; Cuk Roscoe Turner, the flier, and Dick Vidmar, the sports writer, were other guests.

Maybe Reagan Quits Practice When Asleep

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22 (AP)—Maybe this helps to explain why Penn's Frank Reagan is the nation's leading football scorer. After practice he continues to carry a football around in his hands, putting it down only long enough to take a shower and dress.

"Just a little homework to prevent fumbling," he explains.

Ivy League Sure to Get Even Break This Week

Though the customary procedure is to make any Western Conference football team the favorite over an Ivy league entry, that will hardly hold this week. With Ohio State coming to Cornell and Penn traveling out to Michigan in two of Saturday's top games, the worst experts can see for the Ivy is an even break, according to the Associated Press.

Cornell appears ready to make it two straight over Ohio State. The Ithacans, in scoring 133 points to 6 over Colgate, Army and Syracuse, haven't shown the slightest trace of cracking, or of overconfidence. The Penn-Michigan game presents more of a problem. True, the Red and Blue has averaged nearly 50 points a game and half-back Francis Reagan can do as many things well as any back in the country. But Penn hasn't run into a team with any ability to run the ball, and certainly will get that from Michigan, with Speedy Tom Harmon and Line-bucker Bob Westfall to handle the chores.

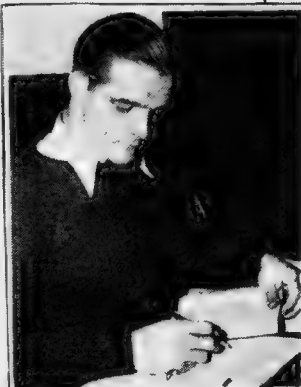

Actually, Cornell and Penn are direct opposites. Cornell is a team in every sense of the word.

Penn is far more of a one-man team, one that might be even ordinary, if Reagan had an off day.

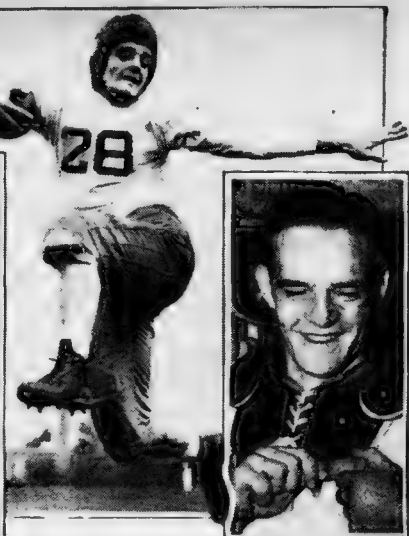

It looks like Cornell over Ohio State and Michigan over Penn.

HUNT QUILTS FOOTBALL

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 22 (AP)—Joe Hunt, midshipman member of the United States Davis Cup tennis team last year, was ordered to turn in his football uniform last night because of a strained leg ligament suffered late last week.

PENMAN WHO'S WRITING GRID HISTORY—Here are three moments from the crowded day of Francis Xavier Reagan, Pennsylvania super-star who duels Michigan and Tom Harmon at Ann Arbor in this weekend's greatest grid attraction. Reagan has scored ten touchdowns in helping Penn keep its unbeaten record. See Frank study (he is an honor student), carry the ball (they can't stop him), and strip off his uniform after practice.

Bruins Stress Team Offense

HERSHEY, Pa., Oct. 22—Manager Art Ross of the Bruins is introducing a new scrimmage wrinkle this week in the Bruins scrimmages.

In an effort to pack more scoring punch from his defense, Ross is using his defensemen as wings through much of the contact work. Dit Clapper and Jack Shevchuk will team up as one set of wings working with center Milt Schmidt and Johnny Crawford and Desse Smith will play wings for Bill Cowey.

This type of practice should help the rushing of his defensemen a lot, declared Ross at the end of the workout. "I can remember the time when Dit Clapper had plenty of trouble finishing off his offensive plays when he was a defenseman with the Tigers. Everybody knows how Dit developed into a great scorer when he became a forward and had the resultant practice around the other fellow's nets."

WILLKIE TO SEE TILT WITH FORDHAM HEAD

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (INS)—Wendell L. Willkie will sit in a box with the Very Rev. Robert I. Gannon, president of Fordham University, at the Fordham-St. Mary's annual football game next Saturday, it was revealed today.

Ring Results

By Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA—Tommy Forte, 119, Philadelphia, defeated Lou Salica, 118, Boston.

CHICAGO—Carl Vinson, 193, Omaha, Neb., knocked out Wally Sears, 190, Portland, Ore.

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Washy Jones, 135, Louisville, defeated Al Doran, 139, St. Louis.

SAN FRANCISCO—Little Dado, 116, Merced, defeated Nat Corum, 120, Los Angeles (lost Little Pancho, 117, Manila, defeated Horace Mann, 120, San Francisco).

BALTIMORE—Red Burman, 160½, Baltimore, defeated Tony Muto, 160½, Chicago.

NEW YORK—Irving Eldridge, 134½, New York, stopped Ray Bullock, 133, Washington.

NEWARK, N. J.—Freddie (Red) Cochran, 142, Elizabeth, N. J., defeated Norman Rizzo, 144, Albany, N. Y. (100).

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—Charles Gomer, 155½, Philadelphia, defeated Abe Denner, 155½, Philadelphia.

NEW YORK—Joe E. Kelly, 148, New York, defeated Frank Baracki, 150, New York.

Reports circulated that certain Democrats had protested the prominence being accorded Willkie by Fordham. Although the name of Edward J. Flynn, Democratic national chairman, was mentioned in connection with the protest, a spokesman for Flynn denied he had taken any action. Other rumors said protests were made by Fordham graduates.

An authorized Fordham spokesman asserted that the Republican standard bearer had applied to the Fordham Athletic Ass'n for tickets for the game in the usual way.

The association informed Father Gannon, who wrote to Willkie purely as a matter of courtesy to a distinguished personage, inviting him to be his guest in the university President's box, it was said.

Fr. Gannon, the spokesman added, told Willkie he would be glad to share the box, if the Willkie party were small, but that he would turn over the entire box, if the party were large.

Willkie, it was said, replied that with him would be Mrs. Willkie and the candidate's brother, Edward E. Willkie. Fordham authorities said the three Willkies and Fr. Gannon would be the only occupants of the president's box.

Students Make Boycott Threat On N.Y.U. Games

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (INS)—Students at New York University last night threatened to institute a boycott against future football games unless school authorities complied with a resolution passed at a protest meeting which was called after it was learned that Len Bates, Negro fullback, would not be allowed to participate in the University of Missouri game in Columbia, Mo., on Nov. 2.

The students resolved in addition to the institution of a boycott that Bates should be released from the gentlemen's agreement he made upon entering the university; that the university should schedule no further games with schools that discriminate against Negroes and that school authorities should make a public statement clarifying their stand.

Watertown Racer Killed

IRVINGTON, N. J., Oct. 22 (AP)—Tom Simonetti, 26-year-old auto racer of Watertown, Mass., died in Irvington General Hospital yesterday of injuries suffered Sunday in a freak crash at the budget automobile race in Union.

Quadrangular Track Meet Called Off

Another intercollegiate landmark—the quadrangular track meet which annually closes the Boston indoor season—today had succumbed to the financial panic.

With the gate receipts at times not large enough to pay rental of the Boston Garden, let alone traveling expenses of the four squads—Harvard, Dartmouth, Cornell and Yale, voted to abandon the 'quad' and substitute in its place informal and dual meets.

GROUNDING GIANT—Tuffy Leemans, New York pro grid Giants' great bask, smiles at his smiling nurse at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in New York. Tuffy sustained some torn ligaments in his back, and can't help against the Chicago Bears on Sunday. He's expected in action later in the season.

SCHOLAR—A fella has to be smart these days, studying for obedience test degrees. And this 3½ months old son of the standout Kresslingham's Queenie intends to graduate with high honors in the Canine Intelligence course, at the Cocker Spaniel Show next month.

NICE BOOKENDS, HUH?—But they won't remain still for long, these handsome Cocker Spaniels from the Kresslingham Kennels in Hingham. They're a playful pair and probably will give up bookending for a frolic in a second. They're the property of Mrs. Herman W. Kress and are among the hundreds of their breed to be shown in the specialty show of the Cocker Spaniels Breeders' Club at Horticultural Hall Nov. 15 and 16.

COCKER SPANIELS SEEK $1000 PRIZE

The merry little cocker spaniels, who in recent years have overwhelmingly captured the affections of the American public, will display their finest points and best company manners at Horticultural Hall, Boston, on Friday and Saturday, November 15 and 16.

The event is the 19th annual specialty show of the Cocker Spaniel Breeders Club of New England, and it is tops among the breed specialty shows throughout the country in point of entry. Champions and comers from coast to coast will compete.

$1000 PURSE

Black cockers, red cockers, brown cockers, and parti-colors—scores of them—will parade before the distinguished judge, Dr. Joseph Redden of Springfield. Featured competition for dogdom's richest money prize will be the $1000 Big Four Novice Stakes, which this year has drawn nearly double last year's patrician entry.

A hit with the public on the final night last year was the obedience program, which on account of its popularity last year will be run both nights at the coming cocker conclave.

DANA JEFFERSON TO JUDGE

The obedience classes are being handled by Dana Jefferson of Wellesley, and Miss Katherine Wellman of Topsfield, a founder of the New England Dog Training Club, will judge.

In general charge of the spaniel exhibition is E. Curtis Mower of Braintree, Mass., club president, ably assisted by Dr. Frank F. Carter, Douglas J. Sheppard, Clarence N. Grey, Mrs. Jessamine P. Ingraham, Mrs. Herman Kress, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Gilman and other leading lights.

63 BREEDS HAVE WON

A revelation in canine education is in store for those dog owners who may seek to benefit from attendance at the obedience tests. It is interesting to note that since obedience test degrees were first awarded five years ago by the American Kennel Club that 784 pure-bred dogs of 63 breeds have captured these honors, including 25 holders of the "U. D." (Utility Dog), highest of the three classifications of intelligence.

W. R. Hearst Shoot Deadline Dec. 15

The William Randolph Hearst Junior Rifle Trophy Competition will be sponsored during the coming winter months by the Boston American-Record as part of the Hearst Citizen Shoot program which reaches into the ranks of the grown-up marksmen.

Behind Goal Posts

Notre Dame teams boasted excellent records during Knute Rockne's 13 coaching years . . . his 1919, '20, '24, '29 and '30 teams were unbeaten and untied, and most of them were high scoring eleven . . . 1924 was the year of Captain Adam Walsh and the Four Horsemen when they trampled Georgia Tech, 34-3, Wisconsin, 38-3, Nebraska, 34-6, Carnegie Tech, 40-19, and Stanford, 27-10 . . . the 1930 backfield of Carideo, Savoldi, Schwartz, O'Connor and Brill—the Fighting Irish—ran up 10 touchdowns on Penn, walloped Navy, 26-2, Pitt, 35-19, Indiana, 27-0, and U. S. C., 27-0 . . . Rockne's teams won 105, lost but 12, and tied five.

'Crusher' Casey Meets Leo Numa at Arena

A double windup will feature Paul Bowser's wrestling show at the Arena tomorrow night. Steve Casey, ex-heavy champ, tackles Leo Numa in one feature, while Man Mountain Dean meets Lord Albert Mills in the other bout. Rudy Dusek grapples Charley Strack in the semi-final.

editor of the Boston American by Dec. 15.

The match will be fired about the first of March, 1941. Announcement of the winners will be made shortly after the date.

While the Junior Shoot is a part of the Hearst Citizen Competition, it is not to be conducted along the same lines, for the reason that it would not be fair to include minors in a shoot participated in by practiced marksmen.

TO SEND COPIES TO SCHOOLS

Copies of the rules will be sent to each school or organization which signifies its intention of participating in the Junior Shoot. Targets will be provided each team and they will be returned to the Hearst rifle editor for marking after the shoot.

SIX K.O.'S FEATURE AMATEURS

Six knockouts in 16 bouts featured the last elimination series of the Golden Gloves amateur boxing tourney before 200 fans last night at the Arena, with Dave Andrews and Teddy Tuggles providing most of the fireworks in their 147-pound final bout.

Andrews, a Lowell product, had his hands full with the Cambridge colored puncher, but managed to register the decision in three closely fought rounds.

Jackie Hurd, of Boston won as anticipated in the 126-pound class with a clean cut nod over Murt Hunt of Revere.

The summary:

112-Pound Class—George Katskas, Manchester, N. H., defeated Robert Crooks, Providence, R. I., 2 rounds.
126-Pound Class—Jackie Hurd, Boston, defeated Murt Hunt, Revere, 3 rounds.
135-Pound Class—Steve Bonini, Lowell, defeated Dominic Di Tossano, East Boston, 3 rounds.
147-Pound Class—Dave Andrews, Lowell, defeated Theodore Tuggles, Roxbury, 3 rounds.
160-Pound Class—Tom Hill, Lowell, knocked out Louis Yulzer, Cambridge, 1 round.
175-Pound Class—James Griffin, Lawrence, knocked out Leo Brennette, Framingham, 3rd round.

RULES GOVERNING THE FOOTBALL CONTEST

The object of the Daily Record-American Football Contest is to select winners of twenty collegiate football games to be played each Saturday. Anyone may enter the contest excepting employees of the Record-American and their families.

The selections are listed on the chart here which is ready to be filled out by the contestant. Simply show an 'X' in the space nearest the name of the team you think will win, or if you predict a tie place the letter 'T' in the spaces nearest the names of the tying teams.

Calculate the AVERAGE score of all competing teams, except those for which you predict a tie score. Write winners' and losers' average scores in spaces provided in coupon. Do not write individual scores in spaces or on the coupon. Indicate average scores only by adding scores of all teams and then divide the total by the number of teams competing.

Only ONE solution may be entered by a contestant. All entries must be in the office of the Record-American not later than midnight Friday, the day before the games.

You need not buy a copy of the Record-American to enter this contest. Trailers of the contest form may be made from copies in the public library or in the Record-American office. Such entries will be acceptable and given equal consideration with those clipped from their newspapers.

A prize of $100.00 will be awarded the person whose entries contain all selections scored. If more than one person submits perfect solution, $100.00 will be awarded the tying contestants whose average score (calculated) most nearly match with actual average scores of the games. If no perfect list of solutions is entered $50.00 will be awarded to the contestant having the nearest number of selections correct and should two or more contestants tie for this prize the tying contestants submitting the most nearly correct average scores will receive the award. A prize of $25.00 will be awarded the person submitting the second largest number of correct selections and should two or more contestants tie for this prize, being distributed equally among the most nearly correct average scores who entries contain in succession, the next largest number of correct selections and whose average scores most nearly match the actual scores of the games.

Winners of each week's contest will be announced on the Saturday following the games. The decision of the judges in all cases shall be final.

Mail all entries to the Record-American Football Contest Editor, P. O. Box 1587, Boston, Mass. In the event of postponement of any of the games, such games will automatically be excluded from the contest. In the event that the planned date of any game scheduled is changed, then that game is automatically excluded.

MAINE SERIES OPENS SATURDAY

The long awaited State of Maine champion series—the highlight of football in the Pine Tree state gets underway Saturday with Bates visiting Maine and Bowdoin going to Colby.

On a basis of the team's season records to date—the clash at Waterville between Bowdoin and Colby should go a long way in settling the state title. These two teams tied for the championship last year and shape up very even this fall.

Bowdoin had a pre-season edge on the Bees. Bees have had all kinds of trouble in starting to roll. They were upset by Tufts in their opener and last Saturday a 99-yard pass against them in the last minute of play enabled Williams to come through with a tie.

Adam Walsh hopes that his Brunswick gang has all the bad football out of its system and with several injured men expected back, the team may live up to September expectancy and come through.

Colby is the only Maine school undefeated and would have been a favorite to take Bowdoin but for the fact that little Johnny Daggett, 140 spark plug—is through for the rest of the year with a broken shoulder. Daggett was a touchdown threat any time he got into the open and could do everything. Al McCoy will miss this great back in these next three games.

This affair shapes up as an even money and the best that can be said of the Bates-Maine game is that the wagering should be 6 to 5 take your choice. Both the Bobcats and the Orons outfit have flashed good and bad football this fall. Both will be ready Saturday and the breakers figure to decide the outcome.
